CHAPTER 1

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE COMMITTEE

October 8, 1994

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Please publish the following letter I have written to the Committee. My original intent was to send both them and you a copy thus making it recorded with the Hosts of God that we have offered this. But discovering I have not their address I am now asking it be published that all may understand.

This is no trivial undertaking on my part nor do I expect these people to suddenly become Godly because of anything we say. But I am compelled by God within to do it and I sense the urgency of it being made public record. Anyone may contact me at the address given. We are not hidden.

I ask on behalf of all our precious children who have suffered more than enough and all the people of all the nations who we love because they belong to God, please publish this! We thank you for what you can do and for having been such an inspiration, hope and warner to us in the past.

We love you

/s/Ni-ell

October 8, 1994

To all members of the Committee and Organization for Universal Peace and Economic Stabilization:

I am Ni-ell of Saddam of Iraq of God. We serve God. I am the bridge between our nations. It is in this capacity I offer you this message.

I am delighted to discover your existence as a committee and as living souls. We abhor your behavior in the evil you have done towards us and other nations. But we do not condemn you nor do we push you away when you may yet be our Brothers and Sister. We do not desire that what you have done to us be done to you. Revenge is not of God. We are of God. Therefore there shall never be retaliation or revenge attacks from us for any past, present, or future attacks against us. All of it is forgiven. You have nothing to fear from us. Love is all we are. Love and truth are all we have to offer.

You are souls as are we, here to fulfill roles given by God. It is time to awaken to your true roles, to remember your true identities. I do not speak here of a past life or a name. I refer to who you are as souls, as the expressions of God that you are.

All our life we have struggled to understand clearly our own identity, our own Mission. We tried to make it happen to fit our vision of it, to satisfy our ego desires. We failed. In this life and in others whenever we thought we knew better than God what we should do, we failed.

We are not ashamed to say this. This is how life is. These are the lessons all souls must learn. Each one must realize that they listen to God or they never obtain their heart's desires. They either obey God's instructions or they fail and must effort again to learn.

Always we have been devoted to God and committed to fulfilling our Mission. Thus no effort to abort our Mission has succeeded.

We did not want the war. We wanted the peace resulting from our awakening, brought on by the war. When all we loved had been destroyed and all we could see was God, then clearly did we see the correct vision of our Mission. We began to understand who and what we truly are. This war itself shall not bring peace. Our love of God and all His children shall inspire it.

Do you know what it is you attempt to destroy when you attack us? Do you understand that Iraq is The Doorway of God's Light on this world and Saddam is the lens for this Light? Do you realize that in plotting against us you plot against God?

All your efforts to destroy us served as catalysts for our awakening and opening of the Doorway. Unwittingly perhaps, you served God.

Now we turn to you and offer you this gift of awakening. This is not to demean your present stature or any good you have done. From our perspective in the Light we see you as our Brothers and Sister who, like us, have reached the time of choosing. It is time to look within yourselves, before great devastation befalls you or your people, and see what God is asking of you.

We cannot tell you what it is. That is between each of you and God. We are inviting you to enter within the Doorways which are within your hearts. Return to the Light which created us all.

We do not see you as our enemy. We see you as our Brothers and Sister who told us long ago to awaken them at this point. It is time you may choose to remember the Divinity you are and take on your true roles.

Come, join with us in the Light and know this joy beyond imagining. We can all lead this world into the Light together. It does not need to be us alone. It shall be so if you choose to remain as you are. We shall not abandon our Mission. The love, the joy, the strength are all available to you. You have very special roles if you will only choose them, if you will only turn about and enter in.

Listen to us as we call you Home. More important, listen to God within yourselves. Will you come?

We will not force you, coerce you, nor convince you that you must choose this. This is only an invitation. You may accept it today, another day, or no day. It is always open to you. Serenity to you. We love you, Niell

BRITISH ELITE FAMILIES

CALCULATED COLLAPSE OF AMERICA: FAMILIES BEHIND THE DRUG EMPIRE

Editor's note: The following document was recently brought to our attention by outstanding Canadian investigative journalist Serge Monast. While regular CONTACT readers are well aware of these diabolical shenanigans by the British elite families, it never hurts to review the facts of the matter from a different research angle. This material is from the International Free Press Network, P.O. Box 177, Magog, Quebec J1X 3W8, Canada.

Why, if so much detailed evidence on the world narcotics traffic exists in the public record or in the files of law enforcement agencies, has this picture remained hidden for so long? One answer is that the HongShang and other top traffickers who mingle freely in the business world were designed specifically to hide the drug trade behind a facade of legitimate finance. The more important answer lies deeper.

The answer takes the reader behind the oh-so-respectable corporate boardrooms and precious metal exchanges, to the international oligarchy—in particular, the British elite. What we now present is the real family operation responsible for the financing and directing of the opium trade, including every crucial juncture in the development of Dope, Inc.: from the expansion of opium production in India, through the Opium Wars against China, up through the Opium War against the United States.

Popular accounts of organized crime families give the reader a starting point whence to look at Great Britain's oligarchy, but the British dynasty is far more sinister.

THE FAMILY RELIGION

The sinister element that sets the British oligarchy apart from the popular image of the mafia family is its unshakable belief that it alone is fit to rule the world—the view reflected in Cecil Rhodes's 1877 Testament. Their religion is not the Anglican Christianity they publicly profess, but a hodgepodge of paganism, including satanic cults such as Theosophy and Rosicrucianism. The central, synergetic ideology of the oligarchy's inner cult life is the revived Egyptian drug cult, the myth of Isis and Osiris, the same anti-Christian cult that ran the Roman Empire. And like the ancient Isis-worshipping Egyptian dynasties, the British ruling family networks have maintained power for centuries by keeping the secrets of their intrigues within the family.

The Cult of Isis, dredged up in modern format, was the official ideology of leading British politicians, financiers, and literary figures during the previous century. The Isis cult also formed the core of Lord Palmerston's Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. Its great public exponent was the colonial secretary during the Second Opium War, Edward Bulwer-Lytton, the author of The Last Days of Pompeii, which first popularized the Isis cult, and the mentor of Cecil Rhodes's whole generation of British imperialists.

The Royal Institute of International Affairs was the “secret society” called for in Rhodes’s will and is the body that provides the command structure for the drug trade. But the Royal Institute itself was founded by an even more secret group: the “Circle of Initiates...devoted to the extension of the British Empire,” in the description of one of its historians. The Circle of Initiates included Lord Milner; Cecil Rhodes, the founder of Britain’s African mining empire; future prime minister Arthur Balfour; Albert Grey; and Lord Rothschild.

All these men celebrated forms of the Isis cult. Their world view was largely designed by Bulwer-Lytton and his protégé John Ruskin. Britain’s high priest of Isis, Bulwer-Lytton, was also the British government’s chief drug-runner.

The words of American Founding Father Thomas Paine to characterize British King George III, against whom America fought the Revolutionary War, thus are highly appropriate: “I rejected the hardened, sullen-tempered Pharaoh of England forever...and disdain the wretch.”

THE BEGINNING: THE KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM

The elite of the elite in Britain’s secret dynastic life is Her Majesty’s Most Venerable Order of St. John of Jerusalem—the “Christians who are not really Christians.” We have already highlighted the Knights’ prominence in the centers of the world drug traffic: from the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank to the Canadian Pacific in Vancouver to Barclays Bank in London. Although Queen Victoria reconstituted the Most Venerable Knights of Malta, our tale properly begins much earlier with the original order of the Knights of St. John, founded in Jerusalem in 1070. The Order of St. John inherited what British authors smirkingly call “the wisdom of the East” from the Coptic, Gnostic, and Manchurian networks of the Eastern Mediterranean. The Order of St. John thus maintained direct continuity with the ancient Cult of Isis.

However distant from the familiarity of the American reader, the area we have entered must be viewed the way the families themselves see it. The brooding evil of Walter Scott or Robert Louis Stevenson romances, or their cheap Gothic novel imitations, gives the reader a basis for insight into the inner history of the families, and the need to begin with cobwebbed history in order to get to the bottom of Dope, Inc.

To begin at the beginning: In the fourteenth century, the Order of St. John’s emergence in England was part of a project to annihilate its humanist opposition, the Knights Templar. Total warfare had broken out on the continent. The oligarchs in France and Italy, Philip the Fair and Pope Clement V., slaughtered hundreds of Templars, and burned the Templars’ courageous Grand Master, Jacques de Molay at the stake in 1314.

A renegade group of Templars under the command of an adventurous thug, King Robert Bruce, grabbed Scotland—Europe’s least civilized outpost—as an “offshore” stronghold, as a form of insurance against their uncertain fortunes on the European continent. King Robert Bruce is the spiritual founder of the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry.

After the death of Jacques de Molay, some Scottish Templars ...at the instigation of Robert Bruce ranged themselves under the banners of a New Order [The Royal Order of Scotland] instituted by this prince....It is there that we must seek the origin of the Scottish masonry.

This statement by a leading historian of the Masonic movement is the standard interpretation of the origin of the Scottish Rite.

THE FAMILY'S OPIUM WARS

There is in fact a direct lineage from King Robert Bruce to the British officials who ran the first opium wars against China. James Bruce, the eighth Earl of Elgin—after supervising the Caribbean slave trade as Jamaican Governor-General from 1842 to 1846—was appointed ambassador and minister plenipotentiary to China from 1857 to 1861—the period covering the Second Opium War against China. His brother Frederick Bruce had been colonial secretary at Hong Kong during the mopping-up operations following the First Opium War and returned to China in 1857 to assist his brother in delivering the British government's ultimatum to the Chinese emperor.

The British Dictionary of National Biography summarizes the Chinese career of the elder Bruce succinctly:

In 1857 Elgin was sent as envoy to China. On reaching Singapore he was met by letters from Lord Canning informing him of the Indian mutiny, and urging him to send troops to Calcutta from the force which was to accompany him to China. With this requisition he at once complied, sending in fact the whole of the force, but he proceeded himself to Hong Kong in the expectation that troops would speedily follow.... He repaired to Calcutta.... Later in the year he returned to China, fresh troops having been sent out [to replace those which had been directed to India].... Canton was speedily taken and some months later a treaty was made at Tientsin, providing, among other matters, for the appointment of a British minister, for additional facilities for British trade [opium]...and for a war indemnity.

Elgin returned to England in 1859.

In the following year he was again sent to China, the Emperor having failed to ratify the treaty of Tientsin and having committed other unfriendly acts.... The military opposition [to Elgin's mass addiction policy] was not effective, but the Chinese resorted to treachery. [Chinese forces killed some British troops enforcing opium distribution.] In retribution for his treacherous acts, the summer palace, the favorite residence of the Emperor at Beijing, was destroyed. A few days later the treaty of Tientsin was formally ratified.

The account concludes that Elgin's "letters show he was a man of warm affections, eminently domestic, with very decided convictions on religion..."

Who was running England at the time? The Prime Minister was the same Lord Palmerston who turned the Scottish Rite into Britain's leading cash-producing export product. The foraging secretary was Lord John Russell, son of the sixth Duke of Bedford, and grandfather of Britain's most dangerous twentieth-century intelligence operative—Bertrand Russell.

Palmerston and Russell were relatives of the Bruce brothers, the Elgin peerage, by marriage into the direct line of Order of St. John control over England. The branch that encompasses Britain's two leading cabinet ministers during the Second Opium War is the Villiers line. The line began with George Villiers, who assisted Robert Cecil and Edward Bruce in seizing the English throne for another descendant of Robert Bruce—James I of Scotland—in 1603.

Lord Russell's daughter, Victoria, married into the Villiers family. Russell's grandson, Bertrand, among his other covert operations, maintained liaison with Chou En-lai throughout the postwar period on behalf of British intelligence.

Even more significant is the third member of the London team during the Opium Wars—Colonial Secretary Edward Bulwer-Lytton, a relation by marriage of the Duke of Wellington. His son married Edith Villiers, of the same branch of the leading Order of St. John dynasty.

THE IMPERIAL CULTISTS AND OPIUM

Bulwer-Lytton is best known to Americans through his 1838 novel; The Last Days of Pompeii, but he is also both the spiritual father of the Cecil Rhodes-Lord Milner secret societies and of Nazi fascism. Bulwer-Lytton led the English Rosicrucians, a branch of the Scottish Rite Masons headed by Prime Minister Palmerston.

Unlike the comparatively closed-mouth members of the British elite around him, Bulwer-Lytton was an outspoken exponent of the Isis cult, which formed the subject of his famous novel. His popularized Isis myth was the inspiration for an entire array of warped imitations.

Included among these was Helena Blavatsky's book, Isis Unveiled, and her Theosophist cult. Theosophy was the Satanic bible of the mystic secret societies, including Germany's "Thule" group, which produced most of Hitler's SS.

Another Bulwer-Lytton protégé was satanist Aleister Crowley, of the "Thule" group's equivalent in England, the "Isis-Urania Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn." Both of these groups traced their lineage back to Palmerston's Scottish Rite Masons through Bulwer-Lytton.

Aleister Crowley was the tutor of Aldous Huxley, the prophet of mind control, who later introduced the LSD cult into the United States during the 1950s.

Britain's imperial link to Nazi fascism is even more direct in the case of Bulwer-Lytton's other published work. His novel Rienzi, about the Knights of St. John, provided the text of Richard Wagner's first opera. His 1871 novel, Vril: The Power of the Coming Race, contained virtually everything that Houston Stewart Chamberlain later had to say on racial theory; Professor Karl Haushofer who ghost-wrote most of Mein Kampf in Hitler's prison cell fifty years later, named his first secret organization the "Vril Society." Bulwer-Lytton's Nazi German and British secret societies met officially for the last time when Nazi minister Rudolf Hess attempted to make contact in 1941 by flying to Britain.

Bulwer-Lytton directly influenced John Ruskin at Oxford University and established the lineage that leads—through such names as Milner and Rhodes—to the present-day Royal Institute of International Affairs. Ruskin's students included Milner, Rhodes, Albert Grey, and the future director of research for the RIIA, Arnold Toynbee.

Ruskin's inaugural speech at Oxford in 1870, inspired by Bulwer-Lytton, left such an impression on Cecil

Rhodes that he carried a handwritten version of it with him until he died. The speech—which set the tone for Rhodes’s 1877 will—stated in part:

There is a destiny now possible to us—the highest ever set before a nation, to be accepted or refused. We are still undegenerate in race; a race mingled of the best northern blood.... We are rich in an inheritance of honor, which it should be our daily thirst to increase with splendid avarice....[England] must found colonies as fast and as far as she is able....seizing every piece of fruitful ground she can set her foot on, and teaching these her colonists that their...first aim is to advance the power of England by land and sea....

Bulwer-Lytton’s son Edward Lytton was Viceroy and Governor-General in India from 1876 to 1880. Two aspects of the younger Lytton’s rule in India are important to this report. First, Lytton supervised the single greatest expansion period in the history of opium production in British India. Palmerston had set forth this task as a means of compensating for Britain’s industrial decline relative to the United States.

Second, Edward Lytton’s rule in India provided a home for the most important of the crackpot cultists inspired by his father. Lytton himself was the closest friend of Rudyard Kipling’s parents, members of the circle around A.P. Sinnett’s Allahabad journal The Pioneer. The elder Bulwer-Lytton’s follower, Madame Blavatsky of the Theosophy cult, appeared in India in 1879, and recruited A.P. Sinnett to her belief-structure. Both Kipling and Blavatsky employed the swastika as their personal mystic symbol. From Kipling, Blavatsky, Haushofer, and others, the swastika found its way into the German cults that formed the core of later Nazism.

Kipling’s last major official post was under press czar Lord Beaverbrook at the wartime Propaganda Ministry; working side-by-side with him was a relative of the Lyttons’ by marriage, Sir Charles Hambro. Hambro went on to run Britain’s dirty operations during World War II as chief of the Special Operations Executive from 1942 onward. Kipling also served as a trustee of the Rhodes Trust from 1917 until 1925.

Kipling’s cousin, Stanley Baldwin, was Prime Minister from 1923 to 1929 and from 1935 to 1937; during his second tenure, the Baldwin government groomed Hitler as a “marcher lord” against the Soviet Union, setting the stage for Munich in 1938.

Another well-known British literary figure, also with a mystical bent, deserves mention in this context: Alfred, Lord Tennyson. Tennyson married the niece of the eighth Lord of Elgin (James Bruce), and remained a close personal friend of the commander-in-chief of the Second Opium War. Tennyson was a founding member of the Metaphysical society, with Bulwer-Lytton’s protégé John Ruskin, Lord John Russell’s uncle Lord Arthur Russell, future prime minister Arthur Belfour, and Thomas Huxley. In 1880, the Metaphysical society was reorganized, and became the Aristotelian Society. Lord John Russell’s grandson Bertrand Russell became the Aristotelian society’s president: One of his successors was Sir Karl Popper.

Tennyson’s unambiguous endorsement of opium abuse was expressed in his well-known poem, “The Lotus Eaters”:

Let us swear an oath, and keep it with an equal mind.

In the hollow Lotus-land to live and lie reclined,
On the hills like Gods together, careless of Mankind.

TODAY'S OPIUM DYNASTY

The closing days of the Baldwin government and the opening days of World War II are an appropriate place to pick up the contemporary trail of the leading opium families—the Inchcapes and Keswicks. In 1939 the creation of Britain's Ministry of Economic Warfare offered a meeting place for the old families: Sir John Henry Keswick, later the architect of the Beijing Connection; Sir Mark Turner, the current chairman of the old Matheson-Keswick firm Rio Tinto Zinc; Gerald Hyde Villiers, a leading scion of the evil old family; and John Kidston Swire, of the old Swire dope-trading family.

Starting from the Matheson family's role in the First Opium War and tracing through to the World War II period and up to the present, the fortunes of the Matheson and Keswick line of the dynasty run the entire gamut of political developments surrounding the drug trade.

The Rio Tinto Zinc Company was founded in 1873 by James Sutherland Matheson's nephew Hugh Matheson—taking the lineage of that firm all the way back to the days of George III and the American Revolution through then-Prime Minister Spencer Perceval. The younger Matheson founded the firm with his uncle's opium profits and help from the Schroeder banking family—who in 1931 funded Bulwer-Lytton's ideological spawn, Adolf Hitler. The Lyttons and Mathesons are relatives by marriage, through the Villiers family and the Sutherland family.

Hugh Matheson's successor at Rio Tinto Zinc in 1898 was J.J. Keswick, a partner in the opium-running Jardine Matheson firm, and a relative of the Mathesons by marriage through the Fraser family.

Apart from their leading role in Jardine Matheson, J.J. Keswick's family had a leading role in the British governance of the official opium trade. His cousin, William P. Keswick, was British consul-general in Hong Kong during the same years that Edward Lytton, Governor-General in India, was expanding opium output according to the Palmerston program.

William P. Keswick's son Henry Keswick, a past chairman of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank at the height of its dope-trading glory, had three sons: David, John H., and William J. David Keswick, who is still among the largest shareholders and a partner of the London merchant bank Samuel Montagu. Sitting with him on the board of Samuel Montagu is Rio Tinto Zinc's Sir Mark Turner. Turner, as noted, also worked with brother Sir John Henry Keswick in the Ministry of Economic Warfare. Later, John Henry went on to the British embassy in Chungking, picking up the opium trail where World War II had cut it off.

The third brother, Sir William Johnston Keswick, is a prominent figure in Dope, Inc.'s Canadian connection. Keswick ruled the Shanghai Municipal Settlements at the height of Shanghai's heroin traffic, and set up the first big heroin connection, via intermediary Jacob "Yasha" Katzenberg.

The family history of the Keswicks intersects the story of the Russell, Villiers, and Bruces through their most senior political operatives, notably Lord Milner. Milner, Cecil Rhodes's protégé, bridged the gap between the establishment of the Rhodes Trust and the creation of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in 1920. Milner became a director of Rio Tinto Zinc in 1921 and served as chairman from 1922 until his death in 1925.

During World War I Milner worked closely with wartime British Commissioner in St. Petersburg, Frederick Lindley, and William Boyce Thompson in setting forth a geopolitical policy most advantageous to Britain's free hand in drug-running.

Frederick Lindley was the grandfather of Henry Neville Lindley Keswick, who currently occupies the traditional family seats at the head of Jardine Matheson's directors and on the board of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank.

The third member of the Milner team, William Boyce Thompson, was the head of the Red Cross delegation in Russia; the Red Cross is, officially, the "charitable" side of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. After the war, Thompson, with funding from the Morgan bank, established the Anglo-American mining firm in South Africa—which now controls 60% of world gold output outside the Soviet Union, and, through its controlling interest in De Beers, virtually all the diamond output. That is the origin of London's control over the precious metals and gems channels for laundering dirty money.

To tie these strands back into the main line of the narcotics traffic: Milner's hand-picked successor at Rio Tinto Zinc, whose original mines were in Spain, was Sir Auckland Geddes. Geddes, who ruled until 1952, was a sponsor of Francisco Franco's fascist coup in Spain. His nephew, Ford Irvine Geddes, was a director and then chairman from 1971 to 1972 of the Inchcape family's huge shipping complex, the P and O Navigation Company, which has shipped more opium than any other entity in the world.

One of P and O's officers, deputy chairman Sir Eric Drake, is a close associate of Sir William Johnston Keswick, also of the old Rio Tinto Zinc family. Drake and W.J. Keswick jointly control Canada's Hudson's Bay Company, which established the rum-running routes from Canada into the United States during Prohibition, together with the Bronfsmans.

The old Inchcape family, whose current scion, the third Earl of Inchcape, still is chairman of the P and O Lines, is closely related to the Matheson family of Jardine Matheson, was the son of Katherine Mackay and Donald Matheson; Mackay is the family name of the Earls of Inchcape. The third Earl, J.W. Mackay, is the son of the second earl of Inchcape who authored the 1923 Inchcape Report, insisting that the opium trade must be maintained to "protect the revenues" of the British Empire—despite the outcry of the League of Nations.

Through the current Lord Inchcape, the old opium dynasty married into the highest level of British banking. The aforementioned J.W. Mackay of the P and O Lines married Aline Pease. His brother-in-law, Richard T. Pease, has been the vice-chairman of Barclays Bank since 1970. Barclays Bank, as noted, is the controlling institution for the entire array of Israeli financial operations, through its control over the current Japhet family bank—Charterhouse Japhet. The current senior Japhet family member, Ernst Israel Japhet, is now the chairman of Israel's biggest commercial bank, Bank Leumi. Barclays Bank controls outright Israel's second largest commercial bank, the Israel Discount Bank.

Taken together, the Inchcapes, Kewicks, Peases, and related families' control over London's banking establishment becomes a swirl of intermarriages, to the point that the top London banks and the scions of the drug trade appear as a single family entity, rather than competing or even parallel institutions. For example, the current deputy chairman of Inchcape and Co.—the family holding company that owns majority stock in the P and O Lines—is sir Hugh Mackay-Tallack. Mackay-Tallack is also the deputy chairman of the Standard and Chartered Bank, the second-largest bank in the Far East after the HongShang. The third Lord Inchcape himself, J. W. Mackay, is also a director of Standard and Chartered, along with cousin Sir Hugh.

The Pease branch of the Family is further closely related to:

The Schroeder Bank, whose chairman, the tenth Earl of Airlie, is the brother-in-law of A.D.F. Lloyd, of the bank that bears his name.

Kuhn Loeb, whose leading partner was Otto Kahn; his granddaughter is the wife of the tenth Earl of Airlie, the chairman of Schroeder Bank.

The family of Winston Churchill, whose mother-in-law was an Airlie;

The Lazard group, related to the Churchills by marriage; Lazard controls the London Financial Times, the Economist, Penguin books, as well as one of Britain's top merchant banks. It should be remembered that the Lytton family and the Keswick family are related to each other, via marriage through the Fraser family, whose current leading member is deputy chairman of Lazard.

CHAPTER 3

WHITE BUFFALO CALF

SEEKING MIRACLE. THE GREAT WHITE HOPE

by Megan Garvey
The Washington Post

Editor's note: Don't forget, Commander Hatonn says 'Miracle' is not an albino, making this event even more rare and miraculous.

Miracle stands in her mother's considerable shadow, her champagne coat ghostlike against the chocolate-colored herd. She is a mat of fuzz on a newborn frame. Yet Miracle is a rarity among land-roving beasts. She is the mythical white buffalo—symbol of hope, rebirth and unity for the Great Plains Indian tribes.

Searching for Miracle will take you down a long gravel path on the Heider family farm in south central Wisconsin. Three thousand pilgrims made the walk down the coarse stones this month hoping to catch a glimpse of Miracle. Every day more come from all corners of the country. One man came from Ireland.

If this all sounds a little crazy to you, consider this: The chance of a white buffalo being born makes your odds of winning the lottery look good. Miracle's likelihood, according to numbers from the National Buffalo Association, is somewhere in the range of one in 6 billion. Consider also that the other documented white buffalo this century died in 1959. His name was Big Medicine. He lived for 36 years.

Now there is Miracle, the infant calf born to a 1100-pound mother and a now-deceased father on Dave and Valerie Heider's farm on the banks of the Rock River. She is a beacon for believers.

The arrival of a white buffalo is like the second coming of Christ, said Floyd Hand, a Sioux medicine man from Pine Ridge, S.D., who was one of the first to make the pilgrimage. It "will bring purity of mind, body, and spirit, and unify all nations, black, red, yellow and white."

Stories abound about the white buffalo, a different tale for every tribe.

Many years ago, said Tony Ironshell of the Rosebud Sioux Tribe in South Dakota, three hunters encountered a white buffalo calf. The white buffalo turned into a woman and instructed the hunters to return to their village and prepare for her arrival. When she came four days later she carried a sacred pipe. With that pipe she brought Woo'pe, Sioux laws, and many things changed. The pipe from the White Buffalo Calf Woman is still kept in South Dakota.

In their ancient White Buffalo Dance, the Fox Indians of Wisconsin shadow the vision of a legendary hunter, who could turn himself into a white buffalo at will after the beast appeared to him in a dream. A white buffalo with red eyes and horns, the Fox say, gave the hunter the power to single-handedly turn back an army of attacking Sioux.

Before the white buffalo's birth, the Heiders had never known an Indian and knew little about Indian culture.

Now they are careful to say "Native American", quickly correcting their tongues when they slip. And they readily recount the white buffalo stories they have heard.

"I am told," Valerie Heider said, "that Miracle's birth means the rebirth of the Native-American culture and a new peace with whites. ...I know that you have never been bear-hugged until you've been bear-hugged by a Native American."

Suzan Shown Harjo cried at her Washington, D.C., office when she heard about the birth of a white buffalo calf.

"It filled me with joy that had to spill over," said Harjo, who is Cheyenne and Muskogee. "The white buffalo is an important symbol for a lot of Plains Indians because they are messengers of creation. It is an important sign of well-being and comingness, being on the verge of an awakening."

Harjo, president of the Washington-based Morning Star Institute, which works to preserve native cultures, says the birth of Miracle should make "all people pause the world over."

Dave Heider had never even heard of a white buffalo when he went out at 6 a.m. Aug. 20 to check the buffalo cow who seemed ready to calve. Instead of the reddish brown calf he expected to find, he had a shock.

"She was white. I couldn't believe it," he said, still shaking his head. "That kind of thing only happens in fairy tales—and, now I know, in Indian tales, too."

He called a journalist friend to tell her he had a cute little story about a white buffalo being born. He had no idea of the importance of the white buffalo in Indian mythology. Next thing they knew, the Associated Press had picked up the story, and what started as a trickle of curious visitors became a torrent.

Miracle is the first of the herd to be named.

"My wife and I were at a 50th wedding anniversary a couple of weeks ago, and the couple got a card that said, 'Congratulations on Your Miracle.' That's where my wife got the idea for the name," Dave Heider explained.

Congratulations continue to arrive. On the gate to the buffalo pasture are gifts of sweetgrass and eagle feathers and alabaster, handwritten prayers and medicine rings to protect Miracle and give her praise.

To Beatrice LookingHorse, who watches her traveling companions tie fresh bundles of sweet grass with festive ribbons, the long trip to Wisconsin from western South Dakota was worth it.

"It is a sign of mending our sacred hoop," explained LookingHorse, 32, holding her 18-month-old son, Ko'ta Ray Silk. "There will be unity among our people."

THE LEGEND OF THE
WHITE BUFFALO CALF WOMAN

One summer so long ago that nobody knows how long, the seven sacred council fires of the Lakota Sioux came together and camped. The sun shone all the time, but there was no game, and the people were starving.

The chief sent two young men on foot to hunt. The men climbed a high hill to scan the whole country and met a beautiful young woman who floated as she walked.

One man desired the woman and tried to touch her, but he was consumed by a cloud of snakes and reduced to a pile of bones.

The other man returned to his camp and told the people the holy woman was coming. When she arrived, the woman gave the people a sacred pipe and taught them how to use it to pray.

“With this holy pipe, you will walk like a living prayer,” she said.

The woman also told the Sioux about the value of buffalo, women and children.

“You are from Mother Earth,” she told the women. “What you are doing is as great as what the warriors do.”

Before she left, she told the people she would return. And as she walked away, she rolled over four times, turning into a white buffalo calf.

CHAPTER 4

OPEN LETTER TO THE COMMITTEE OF 17

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary, amidst the lies and propaganda of a diabolically controlled media, for a free and independent Press to reassert itself as a guiding lamp unto a darkening nation and world, then the matter of funding support inevitably becomes of central concern.

Indeed, control of the money means control of the nation's destiny, and that which efforts to uplift the status quo has little chance of success without some consistent, reliable financial backing from a source of like mindset.

We have entered a period in history when it becomes necessary to cast aside that which only serves to separate and divide, and to move in conscious awareness toward unity.

We at CONTACT, and those affiliates of the PHOENIX INSTITUTE FOR RESEARCH & EDUCATION, LTD., who work toward the reclamation of this nation and planet, have suffered terribly the slings and arrows of adversarial attack. Our resources have been not only blocked at every turn in the road, but those few resources that have found their way to our shores have been drained from us like our very life blood—fighting legal battles caused by those who answer to the ruling dark forces.

For at least seven years, actually closer to ten, diligent and painstaking work has been poured into the drawing up of plans, for numerous nation-reclaiming manufacturing facilities, including a massive TV and movie production complex, greenhouses and hydroponic facilities, a vitamin and health care production plant, energy development, alternative housing—each project is currently awaiting construction, with qualified people standing in the wings.

CONTACT, as a major educational “lamp” is, in part, supported by the PHOENIX INSTITUTE and, as stated on numerous occasions, does not fight anything, nor seek to tear down anything. We are not subversives, we are not terrorists, nor are we in any way advocates of violence. Rather, the purpose of CONTACT (and the PHOENIX JOURNALS) has always been simply to put forth THE TRUTH of what has taken place on this planet and just WHO has been involved, documenting that which has and is taking place in our nation and around our world—in short, providing that TRUTH which was promised eons ago for these latter turbulent days of confusion.

And yet, CONTACT, as everyone knows by now, is hanging on financially by a mere thread—with the publication of each next issue an uncertain event.

So, to put it clearly yet bluntly: WE NEED HELP !

The dark forces would like nothing better than for CONTACT to fall and this lamp be extinguished unto We-The-People waking, in ever larger numbers, to the task of reclaiming this once great country. Indeed, TRUTH is the most effective force for action—and thus we are a major headache to those serpents of the dark force who would control mankind.

Will the lamp stay on or go out? We repeat—we need your help, PLEASE!

Rick Martin, for CONTACT

CHAPTER 5

MASONIC SYMBOLS IN WASHINGTON D.C. STREET LAYOUT

(An excerpt from the 6/9/92 issue of CONTACT's predecessor, THE PHOENIX LIBERATOR, or Journal #50, THE DIVINE PLAN, VOL. I, p.46.)
5/31/92 #2 HATONN

[H: THIS IS IMPORTANT!]

A curious piece of the Masonic conspiracy puzzle in the founding of America is the actual street layout for our Capitol City, Washington, D.C. Remember, 53 of the original signers of the Declaration of Independence were Masons. The city was laid out in the form of KEY Masonic Symbols, the Square, the Compass, the Rule, and the Pentagram. [See map on next page.]

Take any good street map of downtown Washington, D.C. and find the Capitol Building. Facing the Capitol from the Mall and using the Capitol as the head or top of the Compass, the left leg is represented by Pennsylvania Avenue and the right leg by Maryland Avenue. The Square is found in the usual Masonic position with the intersection of Canal Street and Louisiana Avenue. The left leg of the Compass stands on the White House and the right leg stands on the Jefferson Memorial, the circle drive and short streets behind the Capitol form the head and ears of what Satanists call the Goat of Mendes or Goat's Head.

On top of the White House is an inverted 5-pointed star, or Pentagram. The point is facing South in true occult fashion. It sits within the intersections of Connecticut and Vermont Avenues, north to Dupont and Logan Circles, with Rhode Island and Massachusetts going to Washington Circle to the West and Mt. Vernon Square on the East. [H: Chelas, don't blame me for what you are now FORCED to observe—I didn't do it! However, it is right there for the entire world to see in clearly planned and orchestrated intent.]

The Washington Monument stands in perfect line to the intersecting point of the form of the Masonic Square, stretching from the House of the Temple to the Capitol Building. Within the hypotenuse of that right triangle sit many of the headquarter buildings for the most powerful departments of government, such as the Justice Department, the U.S. Senate, and the Internal Revenue Service.

It would be great to know that our Capitol is bathed in continual prayer, and to believe that its buildings and monuments have been dedicated in prayer, but do you realize that EVERY KEY Federal building, from the White House to the Capitol Building, has had a cornerstone laid in a Masonic ritual and had specific Masonic paraphernalia placed in each one? If we were talking about the one true God, it would be wonderful; this is NOT the case. The cornerstones of all these buildings have been laid in Masonic ritual, dedicated to the demonic god of Masonry, Jao-Bul-On. That is the secret name of the Masonic god, the "Lost Word" in the rite of the Royal Arch degree. "Jao" is the Greek name for the god of the Gnostics, Ialdebaoth or lao. "Bul" is a rendering of the name of Ba'al and "On" is the Babylonian name of Osiris. What we see represented in this name of the Masonic deity is a three-headed pagan deity that is blasphemous to a Christian. [H: If, indeed, there were any true "Christians" left anywhere!] The ritual and full explanation is found in DUNCAN'S MASONIC RITUAL AND MONITOR, Third Edition, pp. 224-6, 249-51.

CHAPTER 6

THE PIPELINE: Part VIII

by Michael Maholy

BACK AGAIN

Operation “Delta-Dawn” was about to be deployed within the next 10 days. All the pieces of the massive puzzle, the trucks, boats, planes, operatives, and the drugs were in place. The code status was now upgraded to “AMBER” and would soon advance to all systems “Go” or “GREEN-Light”. The high-potency marijuana and face-numbing cocaine that would make a perilous journey from the tropical jungles of South and Central American countries, would soon find their way into the bloodstreams of millions of Americans and Canadians. Nothing would be spared to insure the people got what they wanted: drugs. Drugs could make a poor man rich, and a rich man poor or, in accordance with the plan of the power people, such as George Bush, Oliver North, Bubba and Dilliary Clinton, drugs would fuel their greed and lust for more: more money, power, domination—world domination. Countless U.S. congressmen, senators, governors, city mayors, aldermen, all the way down to corrupt F.B.I., C.I.A., and D.E.A. agents, state and local law enforcement agencies would take a piece of the pie—the drug pie.

It was November; the climate had cooled off considerably throughout most of the United States. This is one of my favorite seasons of the year. The fall foliage in the Ozark mountains is so beautiful. Virtually every color of the spectrum can be seen, leaving the viewer in awe, almost bedazzled. The giant sugar pears that hung from the branches of my trees would entice many of the wild animals that lived in the surrounding forest of my mountain-top home. Every living creature would be busy preparing for the advancing blue northers that would sweep down from the arctic during the coming winter months. Squirrels would be gathering and storing nuts, bears would be seeking out warm dens for their four-month deep winter sleep, and I would stock my own freezers with fat trout, venison, rabbit, quail, and wild turkey. Food that the gods put here for us to use and savor.

My encounter with all of this wonderful nature would be interrupted soon enough, as humans would want to stock up with pain-relieving cocaine and marijuana for the long cold winter as well. I would meet Russell Hebert the next morning at daybreak behind my house on the dirt landing strip. We would fly down to Mena, Arkansas to pick up five-hundred-thousand dollars that were taken in by several top members of Arkansas’ elite. A lot of the money came from the Hot Springs and Little Rock areas and was partial payment on previous loads of drugs that people like Roger Clinton, Dan Lasatare, and the Dixie Mafia owed to the Bush family. Russell would tell me that payments such as these were common, and 5 or 6 flights per month have been made for the past two years. He would also tell me that business was booming at all the universities, Roger Clinton and Dan Lasatare’s college friends had lots of money, and paid very high prices for Bush’s drugs.

The money was brought to us again by our red-headed, corrupt Arkansas State Policeman, Allen Swint, and another Little Rock lawman, whose father had deep ties to the Dixie Mafia, Jay Campbell. Oddly enough, the men and half-a-million dollars were delivered by an official Arkansas STATE PATROL car. Swint was a bold man, who covered his tracks by the use of his badge. Several times during conversations with him, his favorite line would be: “What are they going to do, call a cop?” His chunky, roly-poly, partner Campbell was dressed up like some country-and-western music star. His mouth was as big as his belly. While talking to him, I could smell booze on his breath. He told Hebert that he should tell our people, the Bush and C.I.A. operatives, that they need to lower the prices for the drugs and allow more time for payment. Russell, already tired from so much flying time, quickly snapped out at the two “lawmen” saying: “Don’t bust my balls, you two pieces of shit, give us the f————— money and shut the f———— up. You hillbillies don’t know who you’re playing with. F———— with these people and they will call in a cleaner to take you goat f———— out of the play.” Then he went on to say: “Tell that pussy Clinton to watch his f———— step or his big brother (Bill Clinton) would be cut-off, and you won’t have enough shit left over for the crows.” With that, silence took over the tiny hangar at the north end of the Mena airstrip. The two lawmen from the Capital left in the patrol car.

We got into the plane and now were headed to Baton Rouge, La. The three-hour flight would give me time to prepare some final procedures and rehearse some of the codes that would be used in operation “Delta-Dawn”. The codes would be handed over to Ricky (the fatman) Guidrey at the airport. From there, he would take them to his Mr. Shrimp warehouse in New Orleans to prepare his distribution of the plan’s codes and logistics, and give G.P.S. positions to his shrimp boat captains. Before we would take off again, Guidrey would inform Hebert and myself that he received an urgent message from Houston, Texas. We were to take the money by plane to Beaumont, Texas, instead of Houston. At the Beaumont airport we would catch a Petroleum Helicopter International (P.H.I.) chopper and fly the money to Zapata “7”, down in Sabine Pass, Texas.

It was not the plan we had when we left Mena, Arkansas earlier that morning, but it wasn’t our shot to call. We were just delivery boys ourselves. At least I knew I was, though at times, I guess it’s just human nature to want to feel important. But the C.I.A. has taught me to let my superiors do the thinking. It did not make sense to me then, but then again, little DID make sense.

As we touched down on the massive Zapata “7” heliport’s deck, we were told by the pilot to take all of our gear, baggage and whatever possessions that we had, as we would not be flying back with him. Hebert and I were once again guided to our state rooms where we were told that we would meet the people from the downtown Houston, Texas office at 0200 hours. As usual, I was tired and needed a shower before dinner. The money would be given to two armed men who would lock it in a safe in an adjacent room.

After my shower, I would walk around the oil rig, looking at all of the latest additions and improvements that were made since my last visit. The rig was spotless. I virtually had to look hard to find any debris or greasy dirt or clutter. The company man in charge of the rig must have had a little “Captain Bligh” in him. He certainly ran a tight ship. One thing I had noticed was that the hole that was cut into the huge ballast tank where the previous 5000 small arms had been stored had been un-bothered, and it appeared that the hole had never existed; however, from bright flashes and sparks coming from the direction of yet another of the ballast tanks across the rig, I sensed that the welders were preparing to refit another tank for the weapons that were due to arrive from the military bases from which they were stolen.

Later that same night while standing on a railing overlooking the Port of Sabine Pass and watching two of the deck hands that were retrieving blue-clawed crab-traps that were tied to the rig, I was thinking how different the weather had been from my last trip to the Pass. My thoughts were interrupted by a short sound of a cracking-chop-chop coming from a helicopter headed straight for Zapata “7”. Our guests had just arrived from Houston.

I went and woke Russell and we all met in the briefing room. There were four men who attended the meeting. Representing George Bush and Oliver North was William Barr, and spokesman for the Israelis was Amiran Nir. These two men I had already met, and through my handler at Langley, I had had a complete background check done. At my home, down in my own personal central file room, I kept records and their personal jackets or files. The other two men with Barr and Nir were a Mr. Walter “Wally” Grasheim and Francisco (or “Chico”) Guirola.

Walter Grasheim was a well known drug-trafficker down south, who had ties to Felix Rodriguez. Grasheim was a civilian who was working for Oliver North, and acted as a liaison officer between General Bustillo and North. Since a lot of the weapons would be going to El Salvador, Grasheim would act as the mediator for all transactions of cash, drugs, and weapons.

Chico Guirola was a pilot. He would fly everything that he could make money on. He was noted to deliver large sums of cash to the Bahamas and also from Ilopango into Panama. He would take the half-million dollars that belonged to George Bush and deposit it in offshore bank accounts in the islands.

Well, as it was, the weapons from Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Dix, New Jersey were already en route to Texas, and would arrive the next day. William Barr and Amiran Nir would leave Zapata “7” later that night along with the rest of the codes for “Delta-Dawn”. The two other men, Grashiem and Guirola, would leave with them. As for Hebert and myself, we would stay and oversee the loading operation of the weapons. The reason for the advanced loading schedule of the weapons, was that there was a leak of the theft of the government arms out of Fort Dix, New Jersey, and an investigation was ordered, making it impossible to store the stolen weapons any longer. The weapons from the steel mills in Gary, Indiana also had been requested to be delivered so that Zapata “7” could set sail and be under way just five days from now. Once out of the United States territorial waters, it was just a matter of “out of sight, out of mind”. In another 12 days of sailing, the weapons would be in several countries.

The welders were busy and resembled ants crawling in and out the small openings they had cut into inconspicuous places on the five-story tall ballast tanks. There was nothing for Russell and I to do on the semi-submersible oil rig, so we decided to pursue a little night life in the small, seedy section of Sabine’s cluster of combination seafood restaurants and dance halls. Besides, I didn’t want any of the Zapata “7” crew members to I.D. me more than I already had been. We would blend into the backdrop of the hundreds of shrimpers, oil field workers, crewmen, boat skippers, pirates, smugglers and just about every other type of seaside human creature that infested this area.

It was another night of food, dance, pool, and women. If this port wasn’t the devil’s play pen, I don’t know what was! The seafood was excellent. This area is famed for the exceptionally large blue-crabs that come from these Texas Gulf Coast waters. The large claws are deep fried with a batter, and served by the pound. I ordered two pounds of the claws, and a couple of bottles of Mexican beer. Hebert would order the same, only double. It wasn’t long before the local ladies of the night sensed that we were new meat in town, dressed like we worked with our brains instead of the usual greasy, oil-stained hands, that all too often were caressing their bodies. They smelled money, so a steady wave of lonely women would tend to drift our way from the moment the food and booze hit the table. The pirates of the port watched us out of the shadows and suspected, in their own little drugged-up minds, that perhaps we were some type of lawmen sent into the spawning beds of the smugglers to infiltrate their operations. The ladies who work these port lounges come from all walks of life. After deciding on two of the women who would end up being our dates for the evening, I would show my own version of Yankee hospitality with a suggestion of food and drink. My date was a down-on-her-luck woman from Charleston, S.C. I could tell from the emptiness in her eyes that this woman was lost; lost in a big, cruel, cold world. Her accent was as pretty as her smile. As we sat and talked, she would eat until she could not swallow another bite. It looked as though she hadn't eaten in a day or two. She was young, only 24 years old, but had been taken advantage of for a long, long time. She told me that she had 2 small children who lived with her mother back in Charleston, S.C. and she only did this because she could not find any other suitable work that could pay for their welfare. I said to myself, that I have heard this same story several times, but I listened anyway. She said that she liked me and thought I was well-mannered, and if I liked, she would stay the entire night with me for $50.00, and do anything I asked her to do or perform. Let me tell you, that at this period of my life, I too was on drugs and alcohol, so I could relate to the fact that she was desperate for what she needed to fill the emptiness that possessed her almost lifeless body. She, as well as I, only knew God when we absolutely needed Him, in an emergency. I felt for her, and thought I would retain her services for the night.

We drank, danced, smoked marijuana, and tripped the light fantastic. I was enjoying it, but she was loving it. It was beginning to amount to more than one night of lust for both of us, so I had to cut it short, before things got out of hand. To make a long story short, after feeling sorry for this young child of God, I explained to her that I thought she was very sweet, but I feared that if she continued to pursue this path—this road to her own self destruction—she stood a good chance of, possibly, one day, falling into the wrong hands of a man not as nice as I was, perhaps some sicko. I don't know why, to this day, I did not bed her down; perhaps it was faith, who knows. I gave the woman $500.00, told her to buy a bus ticket, and return to what family she had left in this world, before it was too late. She cried and told me she would. Another thing I will never find out, is whether or not she did return. Only God knows that.

We got back to the Zapata "7" at daybreak. Crews were just changing, I was dead tired. So I slept until I was awakened at 0200 and was told that one of the trucks had just arrived. I took a quick shower and met Hebert on the main deck. He was in no shape to perform any thinking of any sort. So I once again had to count all the huge plastic P.V.C. water-tight containers, and make sure they were secure.

Although my head was pounding, I donned a pair of lime green coveralls, grabbed a hard hat, a pair of gloves and a flashlight, and proceeded to descend into the pitch dark cavity of the tank. Four workers, two welders would follow as the crane was lifting the first container of L.A.W.S. rocket launchers. The engineers had figured out the weight of all the water tight cylinders and their securing brackets. Everything on Zapata "7" had its own place. Too much weight in the wrong place could cause serious problems like causing it to list to one side. Part of the enormous salaries paid out to design and build these monster floating pieces of steel, goes to the engineers who plan such weight distributions. Look at it this way: take a 50-pound piece of steel and put it in the water; it will sink. Now figure out a way to make hundreds of thousands of tons of steel and make all of that float! So a lot of money is given to the designers and planners. Again, I was there to count, that was all. The containers were all sealed before being loaded on the semi-tractor trailer trucks.

The loading would take six more hours. Hebert was anxious to get off the rig and so was I. The rig was now prepared to sail within the next few days. A helicopter would be flown to Zapata "7" to pick the two of us up and take us back to the Beaumont airport. We would fly to Morgan City and wait for further orders.

I must stop here for now as the lights are getting dim. Goodnight, McKenna, Wa. Sleep tight and dream. If you listen close, you will hear my name when the west winds blow.

Your friend,

RECENT LETTER FROM MICHAEL

Nov. 8, 1994
Dear Rick,

Please feel free to remove any words or parts of The Pipeline that you feel may offend the readers. I have been getting some letters from patriots that say I talk too much about my sexual liasons with women, as well as use too many obscene words.

I am telling the truth in this non-fiction story; for me to tell anything differently would be a lie. My point in telling the story the way it happened is to show the readers that drugs, weapons, money, and sex, all combined, lead to lust, greed, corruption, and evil. Again, please use your judgement.

Hope to hear from you soon, and thanks again for everything you have been doing.
Your friend,
/s/ Michael Maholy

Editor's note: We do not intend to change one word of Michael's narrative from that which he feels is an accurate presentation. Our job is to present THE TRUTH to you, and censoring rapidly becomes a quicksand from which there is no honest escape.

THE NEWS DESK

URGENT NOTICE FROM RONN JACKSON

The time is NOW! We, as a Nation, are at a cross-roads. It is decision time. You readers have asked for it, so now I am asking you to back-up your words with deeds, support, and feedback.

Current Government is at its end. Change is on the horizon and it is up to you. We must take back control of our country. The only viable alternative remaining is to start anew, using the existing magnificent document upon which our nation was founded—the Constitution of the United States. It is our only hope.

What do I mean by these statements? It is now time to form a Constitutional government apart from Washington, D. C. that is for and of the people—NOT with the present government’s representatives or special interest groups.

What are your thoughts on this matter? Please write and share them. If you don’t want to include your name or address, that is understandable—but, by all means, do write.

POPE & MAFIA

In an article from the Nov. 6 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, CATANIA, Sicily—[quoting:]

Hours after Pope John Paul II urged Sicilians to stand firm against the Mafia, mobsters made clear what they thought of that sentiment in a gruesome but familiar way Saturday. They sent a lamb with its throat slit to the home of a Sicilian priest.

“This is how you will finish up,” said a note attached to the dead animal. The lamb was found hanging on the door of the Rev. Gino Sacchetti, a prison chaplain and head of a drug rehabilitation center near Palermo. The note was viewed as a warning to the anti-Mafia priest, not to the pope, police and church officials said.

EU FRAUD

In an article from the Nov. 16 edition of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, [quoting:]

Theft and misuse of European Union funds are rampant throughout the 12-nation trade bloc, the EU audit chief reported, saying it was impossible to guess how much of the $78.9 billion distributed last year went astray. [Hmmm.]

“If we knew the extent of the fraud, then it would be much easier to solve the problem,” Andre Middlehoek said, adding that insufficient data and monitoring prevented accurate estimates. [Ah-huh.]

LUXEMBOURG

In an article from the Nov. 16 edition of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, written by Peter Gumbel, [quoting:]

It’s not widely known, but Germany’s most dynamic—and most profitable—financial center isn’t in Germany.

It’s in this neighboring grand duchy, where the number of German banks has more than doubled in the past six years, and where Germans have deposited almost as much money in Luxembourg-based investment funds as they have in German-based ones.

Last year, for the first time, the Luxembourg subsidiaries of German banks earned bigger profits as a percentage of their balance sheets than their German parents, according to the Bundesbank, Germany’s central bank.

And there’s an uncomfortable reason why these developments have been kept hush-hush: Luxembourg’s financial-services boom is built in part on large-scale capital flight from Germany, the owner of Europe’s biggest economy.

GATT'S TRAPS

In an article from the Nov. 16 edition of THE CONSERVATIVE CHRONICLE, written by Charley Reese, [quoting:]

There are all sorts of things buried in GATT. For example, it eliminates the guaranteed minimum returns on U.S. savings bonds, which was enacted during the Reagan Administration to provide a financial safety net for small investors.

You may ask, “What have savings bonds got to do with GATT? The answer is that GATT eliminates several billion dollars in tariff revenues—taxes levied on foreign products imported to the United States. This revenue has to be made up, and one way the Clinton Administration means to make it up is by reducing the amount of interest paid to people who own U.S. savings bonds.

Another section requires—and this sounds Orwellian—taxpayer identification numbers at birth. God and the devil only know what else is buried in the fine print of the 4,004 pages of implementing legislation Clinton wants Congress to pass without reading, without understanding, without debate, without modification and without delay.

GATT VOTE

In an article from the Nov. 17 edition of Southern California's DAILY NEWS, written by David E. Sanger, [quoting:]

President Clinton and a parade of the fallen and the survivors in Congress vowed Wednesday to plow ahead with a vote on a world trade agreement after Thanksgiving despite some bipartisan opposition.

“We must pass the GATT, and we should do it right away,” Clinton said in Jakarta, Indonesia...

“The question of delaying GATT is really an issue of whether GATT passes at all,” Gore said. “It is abundantly clear that a delay in GATT would kill it.”

Passage of the agreement seems all but assured in the House, where Gingrich repeatedly has expressed support for it. Indeed, in a letter to the president Wednesday, Gingrich pledged to work toward “a bipartisan majority” to achieve passage.

But its chances in the Senate are uncertain.

SCENTS

In an article from the Nov. 3 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, MINNEAPOLIS—[quoting:]

Spike the Old Spice. Pour out the Polo. Kiss your White Diamonds goodbye.

For some people at the University of Minnesota's School of Social Work, Christian Dior's Poison is exactly that. So the school has prohibited its 250 students from wearing perfumes, colognes and other scented products.

The ban is a response to a puzzling new affliction called multiple chemical sensitivity-environmental illness, which can leave people temporarily paralyzed by even a whiff of perfume. It's not known how many people have the disease.

HOLOCAUST

In an article from the Oct. 28 edition of THE ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL, BERLIN—[quoting:]

A group of German intellectuals and writers is launching a drive to build a national Holocaust museum.

There will be a conference in Hanover this weekend to draw attention to the cause, which picked up steam last year after the Holocaust Memorial Museum opened in Washington, D.C.

“We need a complete portrayal of Nazi crimes in a central place and in its own building,” organizer Hans-Jueren Haessler said Thursday.

DIETARY SUPPLEMENT ACT

In an article from the Oct. 27 edition of THE MODESTO BEE, WASHINGTON—[quoting:]

Hoping to end a long and bitter fight, President Clinton on Wednesday signed compromise legislation “to bring common sense to the treatment of dietary supplements.” The new law, the Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act, allows supplements such as vitamins, minerals, herbs and amino acids to be sold once they are shown to be safe. But it bans most claims that individual supplements cure or prevent illness.

PORK BELLY RESEARCH

In an article from the Nov. 16 edition of THE CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION, WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind.—[quoting:]

Scientists at Purdue University have found a new use for pork bellies.

The biomedical researchers have isolated a material from pig intestines that may help repair damaged tissues—such as torn ligaments or cartilage—in humans.

Stephen F. Badylak, who heads the project, said that when the material is implanted in the body it breaks down and begins acting like the original tissue.

He said the material, small-intestinal submucosa, could also be used to repair hernias and reconstruct burned skin. He expects to begin human trials with 18 months.

SUPREME COURT RULING

In an article from the Nov. 9 edition of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, written by Paul M. Barrett, [quoting:]

The Supreme Court said that a party to a lawsuit can't get a lower-court defeat erased from the law-books merely by settling the dispute while the case is on appeal.

Yesterday's unanimous high court ruling will significantly affect business-related litigation because some federal appeals courts have been willing to automatically eliminate lower-court decisions when a losing company agrees to settle a case. Because this sort of litigation frequently involves commercial interests suing each other, the justices' ruling can't be neatly categorized as helping or hurting business in general.

Still, consumer advocates applauded the ruling. These advocates contend that some companies sued repeatedly for wrongdoing have tried to manipulate the judicial process by settling suits and then seeking to get court decisions erased.

"This decision is an enormous victory for the public interest," said Mary Parker, president of Trial Lawyers for Public Justice Foundation, a liberal Washington group. "The court's decision effectively means that wealthy litigants will no longer be able to control the development of the law by buying and selling judicial opinions."

DAVID & GOLIATH

In an article sent from an Australian subscriber, taken from the July/Aug. edition of WAKE UP!, written by Michael A. Clark, [quoting:]

The KINGDOM TIMES, Belfast, May 1994, carried a story of how a leading archaeologist had found Goliath's skull in a valley west of Jerusalem with the stone of David's slingshot still embedded in his forehead! Dr. Richard Martin says the discovery proves that David's battle with a 10-foot giant happened just like the BIBLE said it did, 1,000 years before the birth of Yahshua.

"This is the archaeological find of the century, if not of all time," Dr. Martin told reporters at a conference in Jerusalem. "Many people, including scholars and clergymen, would have us believe that the biblical account of David and Goliath is little more than an interesting piece of fiction," he said.

"But we found this skull in the valley of Elah, in the foothills of the Judean mountains, where David's battle with Goliath was said to have taken place. Even more intriguing, the skull is huge and clearly belonged to a man of enormous stature.

“And if you believe the BIBLE, you know that Goliath was 9 feet 8 inches tall.

“But the most telling piece of evidence is the small round rock we found embedded in the forehead. The BIBLE tells that David killed Goliath with a stone flung from a leather sling.”

Dr. Martin found the skull during an archaeological survey 20 miles south-west of Jerusalem on 23rd March, 1993. He and his assistants instantly realized that the find was important; but, it was only when they had performed tests which showed the skull to be between 2,900 and 3,000 years old that they began to think they had found the remains of Goliath.

“The BIBLE places the battle between David and Goliath around 990 B.C., or 1,000 years before the birth of Yahshua,” Dr. Martin said.

“According to the BIBLE the battle began as a band of Israelites were preparing to fight a band of Philistines in the Valley of Elah.

“At that point in history it was common for enemies to avoid massive casualties by allowing one man from each side to fight for their respective armies. To quote the BIBLE, Goliath challenged the Israelites to ‘choose a man and let him come to me. If he be able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I...kill him, then you will serve us.’ “

David answered the challenge and killed Goliath with a single stone thrown from a leather sling. When Goliath hit the ground, David chopped off his head with Goliath’s own sword.

“As I said before, the skull that we found had a rock stuck in the forehead. There was also evidence to suggest that the head had been severed from the body by a sharp object, most likely a sword. There can be little doubt that this is Goliath’s skull. To be perfectly frank, I’m staking my career on it,” said Dr. Martin.

ON THE TRAIL OF BLACK HELICOPTERS AND IMPLANTED CHIPS

In an article from the Denver Post on 9/23/94 by Fred Brown, [quoting:]

It’s true. Black helicopters really do flutter over Colorado all the time. Those right-wing conspiracy theorists aren’t crazy after all. And even if they are crazy, they aren’t imagining things.

Unmarked black helicopters have become one of the strangest political issues in Colorado this year. Some candidates who see the government as the enemy of true patriots like themselves report suspicious sightings. They’ve also been known to warn that the government is plotting to insert tiny little microchips into people’s bodies.

Chips and choppers: It all ties together, as any fool can see. Those black helicopters are probably equipped with sophisticated electronics to keep track of unwittingly microchipped true patriots.

These folks stop just short of wearing tinfoil hats to shield themselves from evil government rays.

But even paranoiacs have enemies. And, yes, there is some basis in reality for these flights of fearful fancy.

The helicopters—Hueys, Cobras and even scarier-looking models—belong to the Army and Army National Guard. They're based at Buckley Air National Guard Base in Aurora, Fort Carson south of Colorado Springs or in Eagle.

"They're flown all the time," said John Spann, a spokesman for Buckley. "We support law enforcements in a variety of missions," including the war on drugs and search-and-rescue missions.

The helicopters helped fight forest fires and flew bodies out of Glenwood Canyon. They go on training flights. They're called out when important visitors are around, such as the pope or the emperor and empress of Japan.

The helicopters aren't black; they're dark green. They're not unmarked, but the numbers and letters are black.

"If you're anywhere beyond a hundred yards from the aircraft, you're not going to see it. It's for camouflage," explains Maj. Tom Schultz, public affairs officer for the Colorado National Guard. They probably would be less sinister-looking if they were painted, say, in friendly pastels, but then they wouldn't be much good if the Guard were called up for actual combat.

ALL WELL and good, says David Kopel, but "It still seems hard to justify militarizing law enforcement. Some guy growing two dozen marijuana plants in Weld County would not seem to require a response from the U.S. Army, including the Army National Guard."

Kopel, an attorney and research director at the Independence Institute in Golden, also explains why the right is so twitchy about microchips.

The Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, he says, "is researching creation of a gun which could only be activated by a microchip implanted in the owner's hand."

It's supposed to be so police can't be disarmed and shot with their own pistols, he said, but "I find it hard to believe there would not be a strong push to apply it to other people as well."

Mary Anne Fenley, spokeswoman for CDC's National Center for Injury Prevention and Control, says there has been some fuzzy speculation about such a technology, but "we do not have that kind of research under way right now..."

"The discussion about that has not gone any further than people considering whether that might be a feasible way to prevent injury due to firearms," she said.

Hmmm. Now where did I put that tinfoil hat?

DoD GIVES BACK TO U.S. GOVERNMENT $1,000,000
EARMARKED FOR RESEARCH TO ACCOUNT FOR KOREAN WAR MISSING

PRESS ADVISORY (fax)

From Sons/Daughters of Liberty, dated 11/16/94 [quoting:]

Summary:

In June of this year, the House Appropriations Committee earmarked $1 million to be used by the Department's POW/MIA Office in support of archival research and declassification of government records to assist families of POW/MIAs from the Korean War and the Cold War. On November 9, DoD informed Congress that nearly all of the money would be given to the Library of Congress.

Ms. Pat Dunton, President of the Korean/Cold War Family Association of the Missing, said, "The commitment made of DoD to accept our input on how this money should be spent has not been honored. In view of DoD's questionable performance in previous archive research efforts, the proposed expenditure should be closely reviewed before it is finalized. We are particularly alarmed that the services of independent researchers, who have made the most significant contribution to this process, are not included. This after all, is what the money was intended to be used for. This government is simply spending money on itself rather than using it for much needed research that family members have requested for years."

Last June, family members of the more than 8,000 American servicemen who did not return from the Korean War and Cold War thought that they had two things they have sought for years: a commitment from the Department of Defense (DoD) to investigate the circumstances of loss of their loved ones, and $1 million to pay for it. If the DoD has its way, however, the money will simply be given to another government agency.

Many relatives of the missing from America's "Forgotten War" have expressed bitter disappointment over DoD's announcement that nearly all of the $1 million, which was earmarked for research in support of families who want nothing more than to know what became of their fathers, sons, and brothers, will be given to a Washington bureaucracy.

In a July 1994 meeting with General James Wold, head of DoD's POW/MIA office, relatives were promised that they would be consulted on how to spend this additional research money which was added to the $13.5 million Wold's office was already allocated. On November 9, relatives learned that DoD intended to spend the $1 million without any input from the families whose efforts made the appropriation possible in the first place.

"I am alarmed that General Wold has disregarded his commitment to the families of Korean and Cold War missing service personnel," said Ms. Dunton, President of the Korean/Cold War Family Association of the Missing. "We were not consulted at all. In addition, in view of the questionable way DoD has handled research into these issues in the past, I am deeply concerned that the services of independent researchers, who have made the most significant contribution to this process, are not included.”

Rather than making research into individual cases the top priority, Dunton continues, “DoD is simply spending money on itself rather than using it for much needed research that family members have requested for years.

DoD’s plan, the details of which were not shared with relatives or members of Congress, is to pay the Library of Congress to “identify, retrieve, and centrally locate all documents pertaining to Korean and Cold War personnel.” DoD’s plan was not reviewed or approved by Assistant Archivist of the United States, Dr. Trudy Petersen, who in addition to being a senior member of the Presidential Commission on POW/MIAs, is also one of the top officials of the Library of Congress.

“Dr. Petersen knew nothing of this plan until I told her about it,” said Mr. Bruce Sanderson, Vice President of the Korean/Cold War Family Association of the Missing. “Not only was it news to her, she told me it doesn’t make any sense. She was not even advised of this by DoD.”

Other relatives feel let down by DoD, particularly in light of the fact that the $1 million was intended to help families who, as Mrs. Gerri Prescott, past president of the Family Association, said in testimony before Congress in April, have had to “spend their own time and money to locate documents and records which could help explain the circumstance, location, and any possible additional information” concerning the loss of their missing loved one.

Relatives of the Korean and Cold War missing hope that congress will not permit DoD to simply funnel this research money into another Washington bureaucracy. “All we want them to do is keep their promise to let relatives have some input.” Dunton said, “especially now when we know that governmental commissions and bureaucrats, who have had tens of millions of dollars and decades to do this research, have little to show for it. Why do they need to take the only money set aside to help families and spend it on something we don’t want?”

Family members have expressed cautious optimism that DoD’s plan will be blocked by Congress, but the answer may not come until after the new Republican majority in both Houses is sworn in in January 1995.

GATT TWO-STEP NOW PLAYING TELL CONGRESS TO WAKE UP!

Congress and the United States Senate will soon be returning to Washington, D.C. for a “Lame Duck” session, expressly for the purpose of passing the G.A.T.T. All of those now un-elected congressmen and Senators will be voting for G.A.T.T., thinking they have nothing to lose.

G.A.T.T. will install the World Trade Organization and relinquish the sovereignty of both the federal and state governments to a one nation, one vote organization. People in foreign countries will be able to attack a state law through the W.T.O. and if they win will then be able to “sanction” any export from the United States or fine the United States/state until the law is changed. While the United States and/or the offending state cannot be compelled to change the law, it does allow this country to be penalized for its law.

Senator Hollings from South Carolina informed the American People that there was much more “pork barrel” legislation in the fast track “implementing legislation” for the G.A.T.T. and will soon be renewing the hearings. Remember the billions of dollars for cellular phone industry?

C-Span (Nevada Prime Cable states 4 and 49) carries these hearings in their entirety and rebroadcasts them, several times. Those with recorders should record these programs and send them to friends for their education and send them to our respective State Officials, such as the Attorney General, Governor, and Secretary of State. Fax, Write and Call the “lame ducks” (Bilbray of Nevada) and inform them that if they vote to pass G.A.T.T., knowing they are not going to be returning to Congress or the Senate, that we fully intend to petition our State governments for Prosecution of their Treason Against the State. Petitions need to be drawn up and begun to circulate, and copies need to be forwarded to these individuals establishing that the electorate means business. [See Chapter 9]

Call all of the Nevada [and every state] representatives and tell them to vote no for the G.A.T.T., that the American People want a full fledged hearing on this matter. Don’t forget to call the White House and tell them you are against G.A.T.T. Call Senator Robert Dole’s office and inform him as well.

AN OPEN LETTER ABOUT GATT

TO: JAMES BAKER, FROM: RONN JACKSON

An open letter to James Baker, former Secretary of State (11/17/94):

Well Mr. Baker, your statement on the G.A.T.T. agreement nee treaty was predictable. Why didn't you just say, "G.A.T.T. TREATY"? Why didn't you say, "The Republicans are no different than President Clinton, and they intend to give away the American people's sovereignty?" Well, Mr. Baker, you are as transparent and as tyrannical as the current Administration. You are a traitor and will be judged accordingly. Your words placed another nail in Government's coffin. Yours and Government's "swan song" is being prepared at this very moment, and you will go down in history as having composed it, your (sanctimonious) selves.

THE TRUTH Shall Go Forth!

11/21/94 #1 ESU "JESUS" SANANDA

Esu Sananda present this day in Radiance. Thomas, I ask that you write that which I shall give unto you—for that which is given shall not be for you, but shall be for the many. It has been a long, hard road—but each individual must travel their own pathway before being ready. You are ready, my friend.

Those who have come against my people have thought to tear down The Word. Has it not ever been so? So, too, has it not been told to you ones that The Word shall stand all who would come against it?

The Word is God, and God shall never fail thee. God is The Word and The Word shall not be banned, suppressed or hidden in the dark places away from man's viewing—for The Word is given forth to awaken man that he may know that which has befallen him. Each must make their informed decisions.

I tell thee with surety and with authority: none shall prevail who come against me or my people, and none shall prevail who would suppress The Word. The Word shall go forth—for it has long been written that it would be thus, and it shall be as it is written!

God shall win this battle and I stand as One with that Energy. This battle shall be won with The Word of Truth, for we have no need for your swords or your blood! I put my enemy on notice: withdraw now, for if you stay to undermine my work, you shall rue the day. This is your last warning.

THE PIPELINE: PART IX

by Michael Maholy

DOWN THE MIGHTY MISSISSIPPI

As Russell Hebert and I landed his twin-engined Beechcraft at the Morgan City, Louisiana airport, we were greeted by one of Mr. Ricky (the Fatman) Guidrey's men, who would take us both by car to the Holiday Inn at nearby New Iberia, Louisiana.

Once at the hotel, we checked into room #107—just another common, standard twin bed/cable T.V./telephone type of room—nothing fancy. We were told that two of our people were already checked into the room across and down the hall from us. These men were our two old buddies, Frank Adams, and his young counterpart operative, Nick Pena. It seems that these two men were popping up all over the place lately. I still did not know what we would be doing or where we would be going. Working for the C.I.A. entails just this sort of lifestyle. I guess they (the handlers at Langley) figured that it was best this way, keeping us, as well as others, always guessing. There was always the possibility of a defector or someone who might think of selling data or intelligence.

As it turned out, we were all assembled together to discuss some problems that had arisen during the previous week, concerning a load of weapons that had been shipped by barge, down the muddy Mississippi River, to a holding facility at the port of New Orleans. The weapons, some two thousand small arms, automatic assault rifles, and assorted high-quality automatic pistols, came down river from East St. Louis, Illinois, compliments of our old C.I.A. friends at Granite City Steel.

The journey of the weapons had been flawless until reaching their mooring berth at an old canal just off the main Mississippi River channel on Lake Pontchartrain, in the little smugglers' haven of Algiers, Louisiana. Once anchored there, the weapons were taken off the barge of scrap metal and placed on an oil-field offshore supply boat, then taken to another location for shipment some time later. But the problem was that the load of 2,000 weapons was now reduced to 1,000 and the people in charge of the shipment claimed they knew nothing of the shortage. This was not good. This was why Adams and Pena had been called in.

Although I didn't yet know it, this was probably the first time in my smuggling career that I would see the wrath, the vengefulness, the tremendous dark side of the corrupt C.I.A. and their "covert ghosts" at work. Until this point, for me it wasn't just a job, it was an adventure, but now these two "cleaners", Adams and Pena, were brought in to do what they did best. Anyone and everyone who knew these two cowboys, these terminators who worked for the C.I.A. directly under George Bush and Oliver North, knew that the body count in Algiers would rise if the weapons were not accounted for. I remember thinking to myself while standing in the hotel room, that this was just yet another classic example of the age-old saying (one that my dear father would often repeat in his days of teaching me the ways of the world) that there is no honor among thieves.

I wondered why Hebert and myself were to be involved, since, after all, I had provided codes, logistics—a bag boy; besides, neither of us even knew there was a barge of weapons coming this way. I remember the cold feeling that penetrated my entire body that day. I wondered if I, like so many drug and weapons smugglers, would become involved in murder. Murder for either drugs or weapons did not fit my standards of life. Although I was told there would be times I would have to do “what needed to be done” to get the job done, I never really planned to use the Beretta 9 mm semi-automatic pistol that was tucked under my left arm in its shoulder holster. I was starting to break out into a cold sweat—a far different picture from the calm, cool, collected “terminators” seated across from me. At times, I sensed they might even enjoy some action, especially the younger Pena. His idol, the aging Adams, had several kills to his credit over the years. A few thieves would just be “practice” for this hunter.

In the other corner of the room, Hebert was babbling some excuse about why he could not go on this mission. He told us that he and Barry Seal had other business up in Mena, Arkansas, along with Terry Reed and a fellow out of Kansas City, Missouri. Hebert became upset at Adams, telling him that he did not take orders from Adams or Pena, that he took his orders from Seal or his other C.I.A. handler in Langley. Adams smiled at Hebert, turned to me and said, “What’s up with you? Are you going with “Bozo the Clown” to Mena, or are you coming with us to Algiers?”

I was at a loss for words. Before I could speak, Adams handed me an envelope and said, “Here’s your goddamn orders, Maholy. Now get your ass showered, fed, and rested, because we are shoving off at 0400 hours.” Then he said, “Fuck that Cajun pilot; he will just be in the way anyhow; we are driving now.” Hebert was silent the whole time and just stood there thinking of something to back up his decision to stay neutral in this matter. Then Hebert tried to speak out in his own defense and said, “but...but...”, and Adams quickly interrupted and said, ““But’ my ass, you fat piece of shit! You don’t want to go near Algiers because of the shit you pulled off down there two years ago. You know, that incident with the overseas cargo containers full of Colombian reefer that you and those six other swamp rats stole from Perkins’ boys.” Hebert seemed shocked and said he had nothing to do with the actual hijacking of two of the five overseas shipping containers (well, actually, piggy-back truck trailers that each held ten tons of Colombian marijuana), other than to find a buyer for the drugs out of Denver, Colorado.

Adams again put Hebert in his place by telling him that he had the complete file on Hebert back at Quantico, Virginia, and that everyone who was involved would pay the price sooner or later, somewhere down the road. It was even more shocking to me, as Adams continued to tell Hebert what an asshole he was for pulling off a stunt like that, that two people, including the son in a very wealthy, Mafia-connected, New Orleans family was killed during the seizure of the two containers of marijuana. The two bodies were bound and gagged, shot in the back of the head, execution-style, and placed in a barge full of grain, where they were found one week later by dock workers in Algiers.

Adams further humiliated Hebert by telling him, Pena, and myself, that the reason Mr. Hebert didn’t want to go to Algiers is because he had been warned to stay clear of the area. Even though there was no solid evidence placing Hebert there at the time of the actual hijacking, it was common knowledge among the seedy wharf rats—modern-day pirates—that Hebert and his crew were the perpetrators of the operation. Therefore they still held him accountable for the missing drugs and the two deaths. Adams’ insinuation was clear: maybe, just maybe, Hebert might know something about the missing weapons that disappeared a few days earlier. He was just fishing for information and told Hebert to relax and calm down—that he was just busting his balls a bit. Adams told him to carry his big, dumb ass up and out of there before he bitch-slapped him.

Hebert did just that. He got up out of his chair, downed his whiskey, looked at me and said, “Be careful, Maholy—that crowd down in Algiers don’t play games.” Adams said, “Neither do I,” and told Hebert to hit the gas—shove off!

All this stunned me. Here I was in the room with two of the C.I.A.’s top-notch covert agents, either one of whom could take me out of the program in a heart beat.

I looked at the raging Adams and said that I had better call my handler at Langley and confirm all this just to get things straight. Then Adams told Pena and myself that he had just decided on a change in plan. Instead of leaving in the early morning, we would make the two hour drive now. We would drive to the Big-Easy—New Orleans—and lay low in a Motel 6 for the night and look into the matter at Algiers the next day. We jumped into a Chevy Suburban and headed east toward New Orleans.

I was the appointed driver. Just north of New Iberia, Louisiana we hit Interstate 10 that runs east and west across the bottom of the United States. Just east of Lafayette we started across the 39-mile elevated section of interstate that slices through the Henderson Swamp. (Remember, readers, that I took you there a month earlier; this is a part of the same river basin.) I thought to myself just how many drugs were coming into the United States. It seemed that everywhere I would go, drugs and weapons of destruction would follow. I looked over my right shoulder at the blank vastness of the deserted swamp, and knew that just twenty miles south was a houseboat full of C.I.A. drug smugglers.

We had checked into a small Motel 6 on the outskirts of Metairie, just a little way northwest of New Orleans. Although I had suggested getting my own room for the night, Adams was persistent that he, Pena, and I all share the same room. Adams did not want me out of his sight.

It was 7:00 p.m. when we arrived. There would be no leaving the room tonight for any of us, other than to go out to our vehicle and bring in our duffel bags. I was traveling light, as usual; Pena, on the other hand, came prepared to dig in for as long as necessary—or until the job was done. As usual, the two “ghosts” came loaded for bear. We ordered some fast food, watched the nightly news and got some sleep.

The next morning started at 0600 hours. Adams had already been up for over an hour going over some data he was given by another C.I.A. operative at the Granite City Steel Works in East St. Louis. Since Adams was running the show, I felt like a bookend, not even knowing my purpose in being with the two C.I.A. assassins. Adams told us that we were all going to see a man who owned a bar in the French Quarter in New Orleans. He would have the information we needed to start tracking the lost weapons.

The name of the bar was “Papillon’s”, and was on an off-street, a block from the famous Bourbon Street. It was not a large place, maybe seating 50-or-so customers. It was a typical low-to-middle class type of bar that featured topless waiters, peanuts in a bowl, and a four-hour “happy hour”. Standing outside the front door were two transvestites, who at 8:00 a.m. were just preparing to get some sleep. As the three of us passed them, one propositioned Pena, probably because of his young, dark, Latin look. Pena smiled, and said, “Later, faggot; you can count on it!”

We sat at a table near the bar. I didn’t realize it then, but everything Adams and Pena did—including the choice of a table to sit at—had purpose. They positioned themselves where they could see virtually everything and everyone who patronized the bar. The wall was behind us, our blind side. These two agents had been around the block a time or two, and I felt somewhat safe all of a sudden. Adams went to the bartender and spoke with him. The bartender motioned the three of us into an adjacent room, actually the office of the owner, Mr. Louis Serta.

Serta had a lot to tell Adams—a lot about EVERYTHING! Serta ordered a round of drinks, but Adams quickly responded, “We came for the weapons, not no goddamned booze.” Serta continued to spill his guts. He must have had forewarning as to whom the weapons had belonged and what the consequences would be for those who were involved or who resisted the return of C.I.A. property. As the conversation began to take form, names were coming out of the closets. It seemed that the Dixie Mafia had taken part in the confiscation of the weapons. Then suddenly, the names of two assholes just dropped out of the sky: “Do the names of two Arkansas lawmen—Allan Swint and Jay Campbell mean anything to you?” said Serta to Adams. Adams turned to me and said, “Now, Maholy, you see why you’re here, don’t you. I almost pissed in my pants at that statement. Serta went on to say that the two lawmen came down from Little Rock the previous week, just before the weapons disappeared and that they were responsible for taking them. They had paid for the weapons with a large amount of cocaine that was brought from Little Rock and given to the Dixie Mafia boss in Algiers.

Serta was shaking and needed a drink to calm his nerves. So did I, but I dare not ask. I could see that Adams was getting pissed. He asked Serta what else he could tell us. Serta went on to tell us that when Swint and Campbell came down to buy the guns they brought two black men with them who they said were members of a street gang called the “Crips”. One man was from Little Rock; the other was from Compton, California, near Los Angeles. All four of the men went to the barge and looked at the weapons. Then Adams asked how they knew the weapons were on a barge in Algiers. Serta answered that he didn’t really know; perhaps it was leaked by someone operating out of Arkansas. Adams replied, “Like a piece of shit named Hebert!” Serta said, “Surely you can’t mean Russell Hebert, can you? He’s a dead man in Algiers; you might pass that along to him.” Adams said, “Yeah, I just might do that.”

Serta then gave us detailed directions to the mooring site of the barge and data about who to contact once we arrived at Algiers. The pieces of the puzzle were starting to fall into place. My mind was going a hundred miles-an-hour. I thought, “How could Hebert do this—sell out information about C.I.A. weapons? Is he crazy? If this is true, it would mean an instant ticket to the next world.” But some things just didn’t fit. Hebert liked money, but he also liked his life as a C.I.A. drug runner, plus he disliked the two Arkansas lawmen.

We left the bar in New Orleans and headed to Algiers, just 15 minutes away. This little haven for scum looked as though it had not changed much in the past 100 years. The streets were so narrow, it was hard to see the tops of the buildings, which were mainly warehouses and bars. This town would make Sabine Pass look like kiddy-land. The stench of the polluted backwaters of the Mississippi River were overpowering. It was 1300 hours. We decided to hit a local gut wagon for a quick burger. After the 10-minute lunch, we traced down the dock where the “ghost” barge of weapons rested. There was a pretty good-sized scrap-metal junk yard operation there also, complete with a “crusher”—a gigantic-size piece of machinery that could swallow up a full-size car or truck, crush it and spit out a rectangular piece of metal three feet high and four feet long!

Adams spoke to a crane operator at the site. He told us that the men we were looking for were on a tugboat near the barge. So the three of us walked over to the tug and boarded. We were gazed upon by several tough-looking men who were drinking beer and rolling dice. The captain of the tug asked if he could help us.

Adams asked to speak to the skipper privately. The skipper snapped back that this was as private as it gets; these were HIS quarters, HIS crew, HIS world! Adams was silent for a moment, looking at every one of the five men who filled the room. Then in the blink of an eye, both Adams and Pena had their 9 mm automatic pistols drawn, and Adams said, "O.K., we will do this MY way! Maholy, watch the ramp; Pena, if any of these cock-suckers moves, kill 'em." He assured the tug skipper that he would kill everyone on the tug if he caught the skipper in a lie. He asked the skipper if he understood what was at stake. The skipper nodded. Pena was told to shake down or search each man for weapons. Pena found three pistols and four knives. My heart was thumping. This was not the sort of adventure I needed or wanted. I did as I was told and watched for anyone approaching the tug. Adams and Pena were in total control of the situation. I was praying there would be no casualties, as I would then become an accomplice to murder.

Adams asked the skipper to tell in detail just what went down and who came for the weapons. The tug boat commander told the same story as Serta did. He also said that some politicians out of Little Rock, along with members of the Dixie Mafia had ordered the exchange of cocaine for the weapons. He said that the weapons were all taken off the barge, sorted into categories, and divided, with some 700 of the weapons going to Compton, California, and the remaining 300 to Little Rock.

It all took about 30 minutes for the two C.I.A. agents to extract the information needed. Since the program was now infiltrated by "unknowns", Adams called for the removal of the rest of the weapons. He would do this later, but told the tug skipper to get the weapons ready and that our people would come to get them shortly.

Adams never gave an inch while interrogating the crew. I truly believe that if any of the tug boat crew had moved, Adams or Pena would have killed them. I was hoping we could all leave and get the hell out of Algiers as soon as possible!

Calming everyone down, Adams told the skipper that they were in no danger, provided the skipper had told the truth. Adams told me to follow him to our vehicle, where he made a series of phone calls. He asked me to help unload their belongings, and said that one of the tug boat crew would drive me to the airport in New Orleans. From there I would fly back to Little Rock and report to the C.I.A. safehouse and await further instructions. I was never in my life so glad to get out of somewhere as I was just then!

Adams and Pena stayed behind and secured the area, making sure the rest of the weapons would get to where they were going. Before I caught my ride to the airport, Adams told me that I had passed his test. I asked him what test he was speaking of. He said that if I knew anything about the transaction of the cocaine for the weapons, I would have showed signs of my involvement. He further stated that that was why he asked me to go with him to Algiers. I told him that I was totally unaware of the weapons in the first place, that I was working on the "Delta Dawn" operation that would be starting any day now. He confirmed that he was well aware of this, but this thing came up and “the company”—the C.I.A.—had to act fast. He also told me that it was still not over and a lot of people would still have to provide a lot of answers to a lot of questions.

But for now, I was at least out of the picture of the gun-toting terminators who, in a sense, had held me hostage, as well as the others. I was wondering a lot of things—like what was waiting for me in Little Rock. Was Hebert involved in this? Was Barry Seal involved? What would be the fate of the two corrupt Arkansas lawmen? All these questions cluttered my mind. One thing that really troubled me was the fact that these stolen weapons, that were originally confiscated from different law agencies and destined to be destroyed under the watchful eye of the government, now apparently were being sold to black street gangs in major cities in the United States, as well as overseas.

All of this would pound my brain until I fell fast asleep on the flight to Little Rock’s Adams Field Airport. I will pick up the story in Little Rock when I return.

And to my special friend out there in the shadows of Mt. Rainier—the one with the golden hair—now you may see that I’ve been whipped, chained, got a hole in my brain; I’ve been loved, I’ve been thugged, but I am loose. Now, I’ve been cruising the bars, now I am walking the stars. Think about “old sleepless” tonight.

Your man on the inside,

MAHOLY IN HARM’S WAY

Editor’s note: As the CONTACT was going to press, they received a telephone call from a concerned citizen informing us that Michael Maholy has been badly injured. Last week, according to this call, two very large “martial arts” thugs entered Maholy’s cell and proceeded to severely beat him. As we understand it, he was not killed—but he was badly hurt.

We here alert our readership about this situation in an effort to provide whatever safety may come from public exposure of this assault on his state of health and well-being while remaining in confinement.

Thank you for assisting in keeping the spotlight on this situation

FED MOCKS RESULTS OF HISTORIC ELECTION

To: My Fellow Americans

The unconstitutional "Federal Reserve Board" just raised your taxes with their actions of increasing the interest rate for the umpteenth time this year. When will you understand: these people do not have your welfare at heart; they are a business with the bottom line being the only consideration!

Instead of believing, as Government says, "Russia, China and Iraq are your enemies", know that the greatest threat to your freedom is the United States Government. These people do not represent you, they represent money.

INSIGHTFUL LETTER FROM RONN JACKSON TO MR. STEPANCHAK

11-9-94

Dear Mr. Stepanchak (or The Ol' Man),
Thank you for the opportunity to respond to your critique.

Larry King addressed "Area 51". He is grossly uninformed and knows no more about that area than the people interviewed. I heard about the program and received a partial transcript; I threw it away. Mass media conditioning began many years ago. Look on the board of directors of the CFR: Ted Koppel, Mortimer Zuckerman, Dan Rather, Peter Jennings, the Graham family of Washington Post & Newsweek fame, and, oh yes, Pete Peterson and Larry King, to mention a few members. Shit, they have over 2700 members, all media and attorney types (I almost forgot one former member: A-17 of the Committee and board member of MJ-12. He's just an old country boy.)

Your comments on Professor John Dewey are accurate; however, you left out a very large player in the educational field; ever hear of the Annenberg Foundation?

While I was reading your critique, Beatrice Wells was doing an automobile commercial on a local Las Vegas television station; her daddy [Orson] did his job well. Many citizens believed the "War of the Worlds". The fear factor was propagated by the Associated Press. That news agency is now owned by Pat Robertson. Don't look for any change in their disinformation policy.

Iron Mountain was a facade. Jack Kennedy's original purpose was different than what was reported as a result of the meeting. Kennedy's death covered a multitude of debauchery. (Here's a gimme:) There were $5,000,000,000.00 in U.S. Notes in the Treasury that Kennedy ordered into circulation. Thirty days later, Kennedy was dead and upon landing in Washington, D.C., Lyndon Johnson's first official act as president was to rescind that order. He and I both worked for the Committee, and the man who ordered the rescinding of that Presidential Directive was the same man who ordered Jack Kennedy's assassination: Chief Justice Earl Warren. On the same day he ordered the assassination, it was decided he would head up the investigation. I have this information on tape, given to me by Earl Warren, four months before his death.

With regard to the 1988 Ronald Reagan press conference you mention, his remarks were taken out of context. I am not defending Mr. Reagan, but there is enough bull shit out there.

You and I will live to see the day Henry Kissinger is judged; however, that point is moot, as Mr. Kissinger is not what he appears to be. History will be corrected.

Armageddon is a mis-used word. Portions of our society are in need of a crutch. People-control, in the eyes of many, is necessary. Theology is the current vehicle. Checks and balances in the awakening process will seek and find their own level. Robertson, Roberts, Bakker are insignificant.

Blue Beam has been cancelled. Any statement regarding it would be redundant. I will confirm the existence of the “arm” of the Vatican that does issue instructions of a nature as described by Serge Monast. While sanctions are ordered by the Institute of Religious Works, they are carried out by others. The Canadian prime minister is a member of the Committee of 16. Mr. Monast can now say or report anything he chooses without fear of reprisal. Please pass on the word.

As to being an enigma, I have been called worse. As long as you are talking or speculating about me, you are leaving someone else alone.

I am enclosing a copy of my appeal for the formation of a “collateral government”. Over thirteen million people have responded to it. If you agree with it, please copy and distribute it far and wide.

Please feel free to quote anything I say.

CHAPTER 16

GRANDMA'S CORNER?

"GRANDMA WRITES RIGHTS"

November 23, 1994

Dear Fellow Americans,

On the eve of Thanksgiving, I sat giving serious thought as to the "costs" of being GOOD PATRIOTIC AMERICANS.

Russell Herrmann/Herman—a good patriotic American—was murdered (and an autopsy refused). He left a last will and testament, bequeathing monies from the accrued interest on the gold certificate to the American people who had attained their "10th Amendment rights in their respective states", and now the treasurers of these states keep telling the people that "Mr. Herrman/Herman was making a political statement; it is not collectible." (This is the very same certificate George Bush, as President of the United States, attempted to get Israel, Iraq and Russia underwritten with.) BULL PUNKINS!!!!

The reason these treasurers are not collecting is that they are too eager to go along with GATT and NAFTA. Since 1946-47, almost every dollar collected in taxes for education, Social Security, health and welfare, roads, etc., has been used for other purposes. These tax dollars have been loaned out to other nations under the Bretton Woods Agreement, the Yalta Agreement, and other companion agreements. These agreements consist of contracts signed by leaders of 123 nations. These leaders collect our tax dollars as they are lent to them under the International Monetary Fund (GATT, NAFTA, Bretton Woods, Yalta, etc.) to which "shares" are sold—on American properties confiscated in courts which fly the flag of admiralty. Martial law has been declared on Americans; this is the reason for the admiralty flag in the court rooms.

Although we have had no declared war since the end of World War II, the Emergency War Powers Acts have been resurrected by our presidents to keep Americans under martial law and our laws under admiralty (aka maritime) to insure fulfillment of these contracts with 123 nations.

Balancing the budget and accounting for tax dollars will never occur—it can NOT occur until a full accounting can be made of the tax dollars loaned and shares sold in America under the International Monetary Fund, and the Bretton Woods Agreement, the banking acts, the executive "Emergency War Powers Acts" and Yalta are fully examined "by the people", by "declaration".

ANY CONGRESSMAN OR SENATOR WHO SIGNS ON TO THIS NEVER-RATIFIED "CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENT", WHICH PERPETRATES A FRAUD ON AMERICANS, SHOULD BE RECALLED AND IMPEACHED FOR LEGAL WILLFULNESS AND PARTY TO FRAUD!

These Congressmen and Senators—even the President and Vice-President have another contract with the American people. It is called the OATH OF OFFICE, contracted with the American people under the Constitution of the United States. In the event GATT is signed, it is a breach of contract with the American people. It creates a “perpetrated constructive fraud” and a “Constitutional disability” and it denies Americans the right to work and all other Constitutional freedoms, liberties and justice.

POPE'S COMMENTS

In an article from a recent edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, VATICAN CITY—[quoting:]

Pope John Paul II, in a letter on plans for the year 2000, said Monday the church should admit past sins and suggested in a reference to Nazism that many Catholics had acquiesced in the excesses of totalitarianism.

The pope, who has been plagued by health problems, made clear that he is determined to live to preside over what he called “The Great Jubilee.”

He announced a string of church gatherings in Rome and around the world to prepare for the jubilee, which will mark 2,000 years of Christianity.

In another article, from the Nov. 13 edition of the same paper, [quoting:]

The Vatican on Monday will release a 70-page document outlining Pope John Paul II’s plans for the year 2,000, a watershed year of which the pope has spoken often and strongly.

The pope’s apostolic letter, whose title translates roughly as “At the Advent of the Third Millennium,” is addressed to the church as a whole and lays out the pope’s plans for the 2,000 anniversary of the birth of Jesus.

John Paul II signed the document Nov. 10.

The pope says he will give a “special place” in the celebrations to Jews and Muslims and asks their help in organizing ecumenical meetings in the Holy Land and on Mount Sinai.

Before the turn of the century, the Catholic Church also plans to organize “Continental Synods,” including one in the Americas on the new evangelization and one in Asia on ancient local religions.

John Paul II also said he wants to develop a “martyrlogue,” or list of martyrs of the 20th century. Some observers expect such a list to include non-Catholics.

As he had previously announced in a June meeting of cardinals, the pope will also ask the church to examine its conscience with regard to the problem of evil in the modern world.

ISRAEL'S NUCLEAR ARSENAL

In an article from the Nov. 17 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, LONDON—[quoting:]

Israel may have as many as 200 nuclear weapons and could be testing a cruise missile, a U.S.-based analyst said in Britain's JANE'S INTELLIGENCE REVIEW.

Harold Hough, who studied recent satellite images, said in the monthly magazine that Israel regarded its nuclear capability as a last resort if faced with annihilation.

The nuclear weapons included gravity bombs, missiles, artillery shells, land mines and special demolition devices, the Arizona-based writer on satellite imagery and military issues said.

“There is also evidence that Israel is testing a sea-launched cruise missile in order to add another facet to its nuclear deterrent,” Hough said after charting bunker locations and production centers.

Israel has never publicly admitted to having a nuclear stockpile, but officials have hinted at it, saying the Middle Eastern country would never use its nuclear weapons first.

Although many Israeli nuclear weapons are strategic, that is long-range, a large number are “purely tactical,” Hough said.

He said the placement of these strategic missiles in the Judean foothills, a defensible area that would be the last to fall to an enemy, was evidence of a “last resort” policy.

“This clearly signals that Israel does not consider the nuclear option to be a first-strike weapon but a last resort device that would only be used if the state of Israel is threatened with annihilation,” Hough said.

He said a missile base near Kefar Zekharya, in the Judean hills, is the home for Israel's strategic nuclear deterrent.

Built in 1967, it is still undergoing expansion according to current satellite imagery, he said.

To the southeast, a newer missile site was built in the early 1980s to house Jericho II long-range missiles, he said.

“Assuming one bunker per Jericho II missile, the site houses 50 nuclear-tipped missiles,” the article said.

FARM COUNT AT LOWEST POINT SINCE 1850:
JUST 1.9 MILLION

In an article from the November 10 edition of the NEW YORK TIMES—[quoting:]

Continuing a trend that began six decades ago, the number of American farms has dipped below two million for the first time since before the Civil War, the Census Bureau said today.

The bureau, which produces a farm census every five years, counted 1,925,300 farms in the United States in 1992, the lowest number since 1850. The decline has been steady since 1935, when the total number of farms peaked at 6.8 million as the Depression began the migration off the land and into the cities.

The number of farms continues to shrink despite Thomas Jefferson's view that "the small landowners are the most precious part of society." But at the same time farms are also ever more efficient and productive.

The Census Bureau defines a farm as any entity that produces or has the ability to produce $1,000 a year worth of agricultural products, like beef, hogs, poultry, grains, fruits or vegetables.

Rural demographers say such a liberal definition of what constitutes a farm may overstate the number of working farms. When only working farms are considered, experts in the agricultural economy say the abiding long-term trend has led to increase consolidation of agricultural holdings into fewer and fewer hands.

The bureau reported that while the number of farms and the amount of farm acreage dropped between 1987 and 1992, crop sales rose by 28 percent. There are fewer farms, said Jorge Garcia-Pratts, an agricultural statistician at the Census Bureau, "but they are producing much more."

"Crop land in the U.S. in areas that have subtropical winters—the Florida peninsula, the lower Rio Grande Valley, Southern California—all of those areas are having a very rapid population growth, almost runaway population growth," said Calvin Beale, senior demographer at the Department of Agriculture's Economic Service.

Despite these pressures, and even though farmers continue to operate on thin profit margins, experts say, they have rebounded strongly from the dire financial conditions of the mid-1980s, when their debt soared, commodity surpluses increased, prices plummeted and the number of foreclosures reached their highest level since the Depression.

"General economic indicators are much better," said Keith Collins, chief economist at the Department of Agriculture. "The number of farms that are vulnerable to bankruptcy is much lower; the debt-to-asset ratio of agriculture as a whole is much improved; farmers debt levels are down substantially, and their assets have gone up, particularly land."

One sign of improved financial security on farms is the decrease in the number of acres placed in Federal commodity programs, which pay farmers to leave cropland fallow. In 1992, farmers place 7 million acres in these programs, down nearly 84 percent from the 43 million acres left idle in 1987.

But if farmers are more prosperous, the consolidation of cropland into fewer and fewer farms has meant that fewer and fewer people are entering into the profession.

The report indicated that the average age of farm operators increased to 53.3 years in 1992, from 52 years in 1987. Mr. Beale, the Department of Agriculture demographer, said that trend was a result of the declining birth rate among farm families and the economic upheavals of the 1980s.

"It's the combination of a smaller supply of younger adults to draw from and from many of them being disillusioned with making a financial success out of farming, given the problems they grew up with in the 1980s.

'OBJECTIVE REALITY' SHOWS JEWS
HURTING RUSSIA, ZHIRINOVSKY SAYS

The Albuquerque Journal, 11/10/94
by Judith Ingra(ham?)
The Associated Press

United Nations—Russian ultranationalist Vladimar Zhirinovsky denied Wednesday that he was anti-Semitic, but said “objective reality” shows the negative role Jews play in his homeland.

“Unfortunately, the majority of journalists who welcomed the (collapse of the soviet Union) joyously are of Jewish notionalty”, he told the U.N. Correspondents’ Association on the third day of a two-week U.S. visit.

“The majority of new business structures are headed mostly by Jews, but today most of the money is criminal,” he said. “It’s not we who are saying this, but it’s the objective reality.”

Zhirinovsky’s first tour of the United States appears intended to boost his popularity back home, flagging since his Liberal Democratic Party became the largest opposition grouping in the 450-seat State Duma last year.

He was invited to the United States to address the World Affairs Council of Northern California on Monday. He has no meeting scheduled with U.S. or U.N. officials, although he said he was open to any invitation.

Zhirinovsky derided the administration of Russian leader Boris Yeltsin as “a goose, a crab and a pike” moving in different directions at once.

While he said he favored democracy, he insisted that “a parliamentary republic is unable to resolve current problems and produce positive results.”

Russia, he said, needs “a regime that is very forceful, strong and like an authoritarian one.”

In the past, Zhirinovsky has accused the Jews of starting world War I and World War II, threatened to drop 100 nuclear bombs on any country making territorial claims on Russia, and demanded the return of Alaska, Finland, Poland and other parts of czarist Russia.

“Khazar” is accepted modern spelling. The Jewish Encyclopedia retains the archaic “Chazar”. The above map (from The Jewish Encyclopedia) reveals the historic importance of so-called or self-styled “Jews” in Eastern Europe in the 10th century, then still known as Khazars/”Chazars”, prior to the conquest of the Khazar Kingdom by the Russians in the 11th-13th centuries. The rise and fall of the Khazar Kingdom between the 1st century B.C., and the 13th century A.D. is the “key” to the solution of the world’s 20th century international problems harmful to the Nation’s security.

Washington, District of Columbia 20510

FAX # (202) 225-7700

RE: “GATT”: voting for same is a conflict of interest with the U.S. Constitution, grand-fathered and an excessive use of powers vested by WE THE PEOPLE, against our will as the sovereigns.

Senators:

WE THE PEOPLE of the U.S. Constitution of America advise, publish, declare by declaration: you are in breach of contract with WE THE PEOPLE, in the event you vote a “yes” on GATT.

WE THE PEOPLE of the U.S. Constitutional contract, to which you senators have taken an oath to uphold, defend and faithfully execute, remind you that you do not have powers to alienate our rights and liberties, nor are such powers granted, contained, identified and/or vested by the U.S. Constitution, grandfathered.

By declaration, WE THE PEOPLE, do herein affirm and declare: should you senators vote to pass GATT, you shall be recalled back into your states, impeached and required to stand accountable for excessive abusive powers of office not granted, nor vested to any and/or all of you in the U..S. Senate body who vote on GATT.

By declaration, WE THE PEOPLE do herein affirm a great, heinous, grievous set of unconstitutional acts causal of unrest, distrust, disunion of the peoples since WE THE PEOPLE have, did, and are having to cause our militias to once again rally to protect WE THE PEOPLE from a ”patroon system” of our historic past, creating unconscionable, unconstitutional disabilities upon WE THE PEOPLE.

Senators: I do declare and affirm I stand ready to notice over 16,000,000 (sixteen million) Americans, just, lawful, legal voters to stand ready to petition, redress, recall, impeach “all senators who vote for GATT with willful, wanton disregard for our safety, rights, liberties, and happiness, exceeding their vested powers from WE THE PEOPLE.”

Upon notice of an unconstitutional abuse of powers, whereas and whereby GATT is passed by powers not so vested and/or granted, the FAX networks will be standing ready to recall, impeach and try said senators and congressmen, including any and/or all others who adhere to the enemy, under a dual agency, dual contract, separate and outside the contract to WE THE PEOPLE—aka the oath to the U.S. Constitution to which all of you are bound.

NO ON GATT!

/s/ Grandma

Dear Rick, Readers, and Fellow Americans,

RE: GATT AND NAFTA—RECALL AND IMPEACHMENT: (11/30) I am near tears. It is unbelievable, incomprehensible, inconceivable—a bizarre and treasonous set of acts we see being set before us—yet another step in the plotted destruction of a free nation, a free people, a glorious U.S. Constitution.

WE THE PEOPLE of the Constitutional United States have called, faxed, begged, and pleaded with our duly elected “contractors”: DO NOT VOTE FOR GATT!!! The voice of WE THE PEOPLE has been totally ignored.

WE THE PEOPLE have also called, faxed, pleaded, and petitioned our duly elected to GET THESE FOREIGN TROOPS OUT OF THIS COUNTRY!! Again WE THE PEOPLE were ignored.

WE THE PEOPLE are witnessing the absolute usurpation of our sovereign powers under the Constitution.

WE THE PEOPLE have the right to recall, impeach and order these “duly elected” to stand accountable. NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN/WOMEN TO COME TO THE AID OF THEIR COUNTRY and exercise their voting/petition power and recall each “duly elected” back into their respective states to stand trial and answer to the people for exceeding the powers delegated to them by the Constitution.

The recall should be served upon their state offices, the state legislatures, and the state supreme court—and done so IMMEDIATELY!!

The impeachment process is the only process which can nullify these agreements which are against the will of WE THE PEOPLE.

I never in my 60 years thought I would be coming forth and saying IMPEACH THE BASTARDS, but I am saying it loud and clear right now! This is MY America, too, and I would be remiss should I sit silently, knowing the law, and allow this madness to continue. For if I sat silent, I would surely be as guilty as the ones who have perpetrated these crimes.

RECALL—IMPEACH!

MORE ON GATT: (12/2) As I sat here yesterday watching the GATT issues, fielding telephone calls, trying to answer if “this and that were Constitutional”. Strangely, the answers kept coming up a resounding “NO!”

We have become caught in a web of “paradox thinking”: black is white, right becomes wrong, wrong becomes right. Everything is turned around and diametrically opposed to the proper position of an ordered society. WE THE PEOPLE have been suffering from the acts of “paradox thinking”, as

- a) Our courts allow the criminals to prevail over the law-abiding citizen;
- b) We watched an unlawful, illegal House and Senate in “Emergency Session”—which, according to the Constitution, can only be called in the event of a national emergency of war or national calamity.
- c) we protested—1000 to 1—against GATT; the will of the sovereign citizen was made clear; had the proper Constitutional laws and guidelines been followed, GATT would have been on the “get and got the hell out of our lives!” WRONG!! The House and Senate both voted against the wishes of the sovereign will of the people; this was done in a “lame duck” session—executing this vote as an admonishment to WE THE PEOPLE who voted them out for not properly representing us.

REMEDY FOR UNCONSTITUTIONAL LAWS

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW: In the event a president, judge, etc., is impeached, his laws are impeached, his decisions are impeached and are of no effect, in or of law.

Did you understand that one? The impeachment process is the only process which can nullify these agreements which are against the will of WE THE PEOPLE.

The same impeachment process is applicable to any judge who refuses to acknowledge and uphold the oath of office under the U.S. Constitution. They can be legally taken off the bench and a Constitutional Court imposed by WE THE PEOPLE.

In order that WE THE PEOPLE may enjoy a more perfect union, peace, harmony and tranquility, as intended by the “Old Guard” who wrote the Constitution, I have searched every nook and cranny to find approximately 10 books that I am having reprinted so you can RE-LEARN the basics of our Constitutional Republic.

It is my fervent hope that you will read these carefully and that you will USE them to “weave the threads and rebuild the tapestry” of the Constitution of the United States Government of WE THE PEOPLE.

MERRY CHRISTMAS! /s/ Grandma

Editor's note: Also see the livid, pulse-of-the-nation comments on CHAPTER 23 for more fury over the passage of GATT against the will of we-the-people. If the "damage control" pageant on Larry King Live's TV program for Monday night, 12/5/94 is any veiled indication of the climate, then you can know that the anger of the American people is at a formidable level and Washington is running scared!

CHAPTER 20

A CHRISTMAS WISH

from Michael Maholy

Dear Friends,

Today I would like to reach out and address all the readers of CONTACT and those of you who may even be a one-time reader of this patriot outlet of first-hand, up-to-date information, source, and data bank.

As a relative newcomer to the CONTACT and Phoenix Journals myself, I must admit that I was enlightened to a point, where I now consider these writings as a type of body food, or fuel that I must have to endure the trials and tribulations of daily survival.

Over the past three months, I have told you good people just a little bit of what I—and many of my associates who have worked directly under corrupt government politicians—have been involved with.

I am not now, nor was I ever, a person to make lengthy speeches or play politician. What I was before my arrest was a pawn, only to be used like so many others in the Elite's game of greed, money, and power.

Many of you may or may not agree with some of my political views or opinions about certain power figures in office on Capitol Hill and in the Senate or Congress. This is your right, and by no means do I question your thoughts, views, or opinions.

I can however tell you—and you can take this for what it is worth—I have seen first hand the power and destruction that these people deal in. I have seen so much of it that I personally cannot seem to trust either the Republicans or the Democratic representatives whoever they may be. One question I have always had since I was a very young lad is why not elect a common person to run our country. There are undoubtedly several answers to that question, but I have yet to find the true answer. Maybe some of you can enlighten me.

I take full responsibility for my crimes, as no one twisted my arm. It was my own lust, greed and yearning for power that led to my near-destruction. But as I sit here and think about this changing world, I can't help but put part of the blame on you as well. Why? Because even though you all have been told by me and countless others, who also have seen and witnessed these acts of corruption, misbehavior, dishonesty, and deceitfulness, you continue to believe their lies and vote to put them back in power. I wish you people—the people who still possess the rights, the individual power—the same rights I lost as a result of my conviction—will soon come to see where part of our nation's problem lies. YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

I realize that one learns from his or her mistakes. To feel the real joy of life, a person must experience sorrow. This I (as also many of you) know only too well. The point I am trying to bring forward to all of you is that you are all honest and real people who are being used, as well. You do not deserve such treatment. I can tell this from the many letters that all of you write to me; I can also hear your pleas.

It is no big secret that I am considered expendable by many people, especially those with whom I have been involved in my illegal criminal activities—people in high positions and political power. These people would like to see me terminated. I have already named, fingered them, and can possibly destroy their careers, bank accounts, families and power. Whether it be another alleged suicide, like so many others who have attempted to defy these corrupt government power figures, or another unusual accident—dead is dead!

It seems like it's every day that a fellow inmate will come up to me and tell me that I have guts to expose these things. These men, for the larger part, are not ignorant, uninformed people. They have also seen the devastation, the evil that the government can bestow upon even the common, honest people. Even they tell me I am a marked man upon my release.

Then why do I continue to expose the truth? Because in the end, the truth will prevail. As you may know, I cannot receive any money from any books, tapes, movies or any business activities. Even though I have been approached by several authors and even film makers, I cannot receive money for their offers. I am giving you the real inside story free of charge so that hopefully you will use this data as a tool to overcome this evil. If you decide to look the other way then, as I have said, you are also guilty in your own way.

My intent in this letter was not to preach to you, but to try to let you know what is at stake here. A lot of you really understand, some of you are afraid. For those of you who write me and send me funding for the much-needed postage stamps and related materials, I need to answer your letters; please put your return address on your letters. I want to respond to each and every one of you, but sometimes I have to wait for postage funding. Many of you neglect to put your name on the letters.

As a result of CONTACT printing my writings, I have made many new friends, but I'd like to express my feelings for just a moment toward one very special person. This person is slowly coming to know the real me and I truly hope that this person will become a part of my life.

On a final note, I would like to wish all of you a very special Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. My heart will be with each and every one of you over the holiday season. You have all made a big difference in my life. Thank you.

In Love and Light
/s/ Michael Maholy

REMEMBER: If you want to write to Michael Maholy, please address all letters and any U.S. Postal Money Orders without "CAPTAIN" in front of his name. This is just one of the games the prison is playing with Michael.

Also, each letter must have your name and return address on the envelope.

FREE TRADE FRENZY

MEMEBERS OF OPEC

APEC, NAFTA, AND GATT have been the focus of late, as the New World Order moves relentlessly toward Global 2000. APEC is featured in this article from the November 16 edition of the LA TIMES, written by Paul Richter, [quoting:]

BOGOR, Indonesia—Leaders of 18 Pacific Rim countries formally committed themselves Tuesday to dismantling all trade barriers within the next 25 years, but last-minute objections from two nations [South Korea and Maylasia] showed how fragile their alliance remains.

Although Tuesday's trade agreement is broad and non-binding, the countries hope it will create momentum to hasten the trend toward free trade within a group that includes half the world's population and 40% of its trade.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Warren Christopher (A-5) will meet with Indonesia's Human Rights Commission.

GATT MEMBERS

NAFTA KILLING U.S. JOBS

In an article from the November 19 edition of the Antelope Valley (California) DAILY PRESS, [quoting:]

The North American Free Trade Agreement is "killing, not creating" U.S. jobs, a report released Thursday contends.

The report, by the Institute for Policy Studies, a Washington-based research group, is expected to be used by some in Congress to try to defeat a bill implementing the Uruguay Round trade-liberalizing agreement. The report documents that more than 12,000 U.S. workers have already been certified by the Labor Department for special assistance because of NAFTA-related job losses.

The report contradicts Clinton administration claims that the NAFTA, in its first six months of operations, has created up to 100,000 U.S. jobs.

CLINTON SEEKS EXPANSION OF NAFTA

In an Associated Press article from the November 19 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, [quoting:]

WASHINGTON—As the White House pursues congressional backing of the world trade accord, U.S. officials also are moving quietly toward expanding free trade in the Americas.

Administration officials are leaning toward launching negotiations early next year to bring Chile into the North American Free Trade Agreement. It would be the first U.S. step toward hemispheric free trade since the United States, Canada and Mexico agreed to lower their trade barriers a year ago by forming NAFTA.

Under the scenario envisioned, the negotiations would occur at the same time that the administration renews its bid for congressional approval of “fast track” authority enabling trade agreements to be negotiated without a prospect of congressional amendment.

MEMORY CAN BE IMPLANTED

In an article from the November 14 edition of THE TORONTO STAR, written by Tracey Tyler, [quoting:]

Could you be led to believe you fell into a punch bowl at a wedding?

Or were hospitalized for an ear infection?

Or got lost in a shopping mall as a child, even if it weren't true?

Before answering no, consider this: About one in four adults involved in three memory experiments at Washington state universities were convinced these incidents, which never occurred, actually happened to them.

The results, presented at a weekend conference of the Criminal Lawyers' Association could have implications for sexual abuse cases involving witnesses who say they have recently “recovered” memories of abuse that occurred in the past.

HOLOGRAMS REPLACE WINDOW DISPLAYS

An Associated Press article from the November 5 edition of the ASHVILLE-CITIZEN TIMES hints at “Blue Beam” technology, [quoting:]

Those eye-catching window displays at fancy department stores are moving out of the window.

A New York company has created a device that projects three-dimensional images sharply enough to be seen in daylight and without special glasses. It uses a combination of optics and computer programming to achieve the effect.

It debuted showing holograph-like, moving images of products including jeans, snow boots, and personal stereos that seemed to spin in the air in front of moving stars.

GATT PASSES SENATE

In an Associated Press article from the December 2 edition of the LA TIMES, [quoting:]

WASHINGTON—The Senate over-whelmingly [76-24] approved a historic 124-nation, tariff-slashing trade agreement Thursday night, bringing to a close a strife-filled 103rd Congress with a rare note of bipartisan unity. The House on Tuesday had approved the accord, the most sweeping rewrite of global trading rules in four decades.

President Clinton called the vote a “victory for America” and said he hopes it is a harbinger of cooperation between his administration and Republicans who soon will assume control of Congress.

GENOME MAPPING

The CONTACT News Desk has lately been receiving newspaper articles from around the world on the subject of genetic engineering. We regret we haven't the space to reprint them all, but these headlines give you the idea: “GENE MAY HELP REPAIR HURT HEARTS”; “BARNYARD ANIMALS NOW RARE BREEDS;” “GENE RESEARCH INDICATES PUTTING VACCINES INTO FOOD IS POSSIBLE”; “GENETICALLY ALTERED CANOLA PLANT OK'D”; “RISKS OF GENE SPLICING DEBATED”.

The next is especially revealing:

The November 13 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL features a SPECIAL TO THE WASHINGTON POST by Jessica Mathews, a senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations, [quoting:]

The human genome is about to become the most incendiary scientific frontier since Charles Darwin's heretical insights burst upon Victorian England.

The mapping of the genome—a federally financed crash effort launched in the mid '80s to identify every human gene—is beginning to unleash a torrent of information for which this society is almost completely unprepared. The challenges it will pose to personal values, religious beliefs and public policy will make the current to-do over genetics, race and intelligence seem mild.

The information will come without the knowledge to understand its consequences for us individually or collectively, and without the means—new institutions, laws, regulations and a large corps of genetic of genetic counselors—to use it wisely or even safely.

With much of the research being carried out in for-profit laboratories, there is little time to think through a measured response. Each new bit of genetic information will be rushed—is already being rushed—into the commercial medical marketplace.

Genetic medicine will be layered on top of existing health care, adding greatly to its cost. Screening tests also open up the possibility of using in vitro fertilization to ensure that a parent does not pass along a dangerous gene—or does bequeath a highly desirable one. (One recent study found that 11 percent of couples would abort a fetus carrying a gene for obesity.[!]) At a minimum cost of $10,000, this option is only likely to be available to those who can afford to pay for it. After some years of this, the gene pools of the rich and the poor would begin to diverge, with improved genomes at the top and what Robert Wright in the New Republic calls a “genetic underclass” developing at the bottom.

Mapping gives thousands of landmarks along DNA strands called chromosomes, where genes reside

FORMER “COW DISEASE” NOW
POSES HUMAN THREAT

In a brief article of from THE ORLANDO SENTINEL (no date provided), [quoting:] CHICAGO—A stomach parasite that was seen as nothing more than a cow disease as late as 1976 is now surfacing with alarming frequency in humans, according to health officials who have found cryptosporidium in Midwest drinking water, West Coast swimming pools and apple cider in Maine. Those discoveries have prompted the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to urge apple cider makers and anyone who eats raw fruits and vegetables to thoroughly wash their produce. The parasite can cause severe diarrhea and nausea, which can be fatal for anyone whose immune system is stressed.

LAB TO STUDY DEADLY VIRUSES

In an article from the November 7 edition of THE TORONTO STAR, by Lisa Priest, [quoting:]

Fearing the outbreak of dangerous exotic diseases, Metro will house Canada’s only super-sealed laboratory for public health emergencies.

When it opens in Etobicoke in three weeks, the Maximum Containment Laboratory—one of only three in North America and 15 world-wide—will investigate the deadly viruses and diseases that are creeping into Canada.

Previously, public health officials have had to send specimens to the U.S. Centres for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. or to Fort Detrick, Md., home of one of the largest biological weapons labs in the United States.

[Might the (Elite) goal be “population control”??]

DEADLY ANTHRAX SPORES ESCAPE
FROM RUSSIAN MICROBIOLOGY FACILITY

In an article from the November 18 edition of the LA TIMES, [quoting:]

An unusual anthrax epidemic that killed 68 people in the former Soviet Union began when the deadly spores escaped from a covert military microbiology facility, Russian and American researchers have concluded.

Their work, based on two years of interviews with survivors of the 1979 outbreak in Sverdlovsk and unique access to Russian public health records, raises the possibility that one of the most controversial chapters in Cold War history arose from experiments that violated an international accord forbidding biological weapons.

DESERT STORM SYNDROME

This article written by James Brooks comes from the November 13 edition of the JOHNSON CITY PRESS, [quoting:]

Over 2300 U.S. veterans of the Persian Gulf War have since died from a puzzling variety of effects known collectively as Desert Storm Syndrome.

One veteran who has been trying to get the answers to her health problems is Carol Picou, a career Army nurse who led seven other nurses into an Iraqi combat area after eight men in her unit refused to go.

She was exposed to the smoke of burning Iraqi vehicles, some of them hit by depleted uranium penetrators fired by U.S. tanks or A10 Warthog tank killer aircraft.

Since then she has suffered from urinary tract disorders, loss of balance, head pressure, joint and muscle pain, abdominal bloating and both long- and short-term memory loss. Some of the women who were with her have since given birth to deformed babies.

Ms. Picou was the keynote speaker in a forum on depleted uranium hosted by the Military Toxins Project at the Historic Jonesboro (Tennessee) Visitors Center Saturday.

She said 40 of the 150 persons in her unit have since become sick. The event was held on Veteran's Day weekend to draw attention to other Persian Gulf veterans who may not yet be aware that their symptoms may be widespread.

U.N. APPEAL

In the November 22 edition of the (Los Angeles) DAILY NEWS, written by Kimberly Kindy, [quoting:]

An anti-Proposition 187 group called Save Our Children said Monday it stands behind the Los Angeles Board of Education's decision to file a lawsuit against the measure and will also ask the United Nations Human Rights Commission for assistance in its fight.

Proposition 187, approved by voters Nov. 8, makes illegal aliens ineligible for public education, non-emergency health care and other public services, and requires public agencies to report suspected illegal immigrants to the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

U.S. Department of Education officials has said that if the district enforced Proposition 187, it would lose federal funding. The district has estimated the loss at about $628 million annually.

Members of the Save Our Children group said they believe that human-rights violations are occurring as a result of the passage of Proposition 187. They have begun a petition drive, asking for assistance from United Nations Secretary General Boutros Boutros-Ghali. "I think the United Nations has the power to intervene because the United States is a part of the United Nations," said Pablo Quiroz, who is organizing the petition drive.

POLICE GO FISHING FOR GUNS

A NEW YORK TIMES article appeared in the November 20 edition of the ORLANDO SENTINEL, [quoting:]

INDIANAPOLIS—Police departments here and in Kansas City, MO., have tried something police departments have never done before to get illegal guns off the streets: focused on guns in the way they long have focused on drugs and drunken drivers.

Night after night, teams of Indianapolis police officers are being freed from answering routine calls and directed to patrol three high-crime neighborhoods, watching for any infraction of the law that will give them the legal basis to search a car or pedestrian for illegal guns.

A select group of police officers, works the hot spots in patrol cars, looking exclusively for illegal firearms. Traffic violations give them the means to stop suspects.

Spokesmen for the two departments said the programs so far had drawn no protests. [!]

RABIN "SUPPORTS" BANK

In an article from the October 31 edition of the NEW FEDERALIST, [quoting:]

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin gave his backing "in principle" to a Middle East Development Bank as proposed by Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, according to the Oct. 25 Financial Times of London. Rabin said he would support the bank only if Israel would not have to make a contribution immediately or if any U.S. contribution would not be subtracted from U.S. aid to Israel.

It is designed to circumvent the World Bank, which will lend to neither the Palestinians nor Israel.

PAN AM FLIGHT #103

The topic of this November 17 article from THE BAKERSFIELD CALIFORNIAN was covered in depth in CONTACT (July 5, 1994), [quoting:]

LONDON (AP)—The British Parliament on Wednesday hosted an extraordinary screening of a film challenging whether Libyans were responsible for the deadly 1988 plane crash that killed 270 people over Lockerbie, Scotland.

The film, "The Maltese Double Cross", revives allegations that arose soon after a Pan AM jumbo exploded over Lockerbie in December 1988 that a Syrian-backed Palestinian terror group was behind the blast.

The film's producer, Allan Francovich, said it had been banned from the London Film Festival, where it was due to screen on Nov. 20, because of American and British pressure.

The 165-minute film asserts that the United States sought to cover up an alleged Syrian connection to Lockerbie. The reason, the film suggests, was partly because U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency officials may have known about plans for the attack before-hand but did nothing to thwart them because of the agency's own ties with Palestinian terror groups.

BRITAIN NARROWS RIGHTS

This article written by Fred Barbash of THE WASHINGTON POST appeared in the November 13 edition of THE MODESTO BEE [quoting:]

LONDON—The government is dramatically reshaping Britain's criminal justice system, curtailing some traditional rights, increasing police powers and imposing stricter penalties for a broad variety of major and minor offenses.

The most controversial provisions of the measure provide strong disincentives for people questioned by police to invoke the right to remain silent.

The law also contains new powers for police to stop and search vehicles and pedestrians; to arrest and disperse squatters, trespassers and "illegal campers".

Michael Howard, home secretary and head of the department responsible for law enforcement here, has proposed a national DNA bank to help track down criminals, as well as a voluntary system of national identity cards.

Opponents of the measures face formidable odds. Crime has increased more than 40 percent since the mid-1980s, according to government statistics, although in the last year the numbers have begun to decline.

In the United States, such legislation would be subject to challenge as a violation of the Bill of Rights. Britain has no bill of rights and no true equivalent of the Supreme Court, with the power to strike down acts of Parliament.

The gunman who shot the White House had "Impeach Clinton Petitions" in his pocket when he was arrested. Pat Williams (U.S. Representative from the state of Montana) publicly tried to make a connection between the Militia and this gunman.

A Brazilian videotaped the shooting and the arrest. He was to appear in Washington, D.C. with his video tape to be a government witness against the gunman.

The week before he was to fly to Washington he died. Cause of death "flesh eating disease". Video tape now missing. (And people say there is no conspiracy!)

II

The BATF has come out with a report on Militias. They state that the Militia of Montana has been the catalyst for this movement. This does not surprise us seeing how the office of Naval Intelligence initiated an investigation against us.

This report also outlines the states that they know of which now have militia organizations forming.

III

A civil rights organization has petitioned the UN to force Tasmania (a state of Australia) to change its laws banning homosexuality. The UN is intervening. There are many states in the US which have these same laws. Are we now to expect the UN to tell Montana what laws are good and which are bad? Good luck.

IV

The UN is planning to take public and private property from Americans for international parks called biospheres. According to the State Dept. (Publication 10059) there are 47 locations within the United States that will be turned over. Montana alone will allocate 1,021,068 acres for a biosphere. These are the 1993 figures. They have probably increased by this time.

V

Major suppliers of MRE's (Meals Ready To Eat); gas masks & chemical suits are being raided and having these items confiscated by the Military Criminal Investigative Department. They are saying that these items are stolen goods and have not been purchased through the normal channels.

VI

West of Houston, Texas, a company called Stewart-Stevenson is manufacturing hundreds of chemical & biological vehicles (reports are that most are decontamination vehicles).

VII

In case you missed it the Auburn Journal, Auburn California ran a poll on August 9, 1994. The pole read: Has the U.S. Government gotten so oppressive that a citizen militia is needed? There were 761 people who called in, the results were:

YES: 66 percent, 501; NO: 34 percent, 260

MORE HEATED REACTION TO PASSAGE OF GATT

To: Ken
December 1994

I just heard over public radio that GATT had passed today. I could not make out the exact vote count, due to static. We are behind the times out here [Hawaii]so I reckon you already know.

You and I have both spent large amounts of money and time to wake up people and to try to get the fools in office to do what is right. It is apparent to me that we are not successful in the latter.

The lame duck session, which should not have been without a National Emergency, passed a death blow to honest, hard-working Americans. We can go through the motions of having trials for these SOBs or we can place bounties on them and stop playing their game.

These folks are well past the age of knowing right from wrong, so they have no lawful excuse. I move that all of the people who voted for GATT should be tried for TREASON (and receive the prescribed punishment for same) without further delay!

If you see another way of dealing with this effectively, I would most certainly like to hear about it.

Sirs and Madams:

You have seen fit this day to vote, once again, contrary to the will and best interest of the people of this great republic!!!! You, the United States Government, agent/employee of the people, have so spoken.

So be it!

You shall now clearly learn and realize the power of the people, a righteous people; for you are witness to and shall be witnessing the Great-Awakening of the People. NOW WHAT, AMERICA!!!

With the traitorous passage of GATT in the Senate, 76-24, and the House 288-146, it’s finally apparent and proven to America; S——— smells the same on both sides, it’s just called different these days. One side Republican, the other side Democrat!

We sent a message November 8th and I hope all you good people remember this! Benedict Arnold Bobbie Communist Dole (R) from Kansas admitted to receiving 2,000 calls daily from people opposing GATT. Yet this traitorous S.O.B. supported the passage and probably talked the ones who couldn’t read into voting yes. With 80% of the American people against GATT, it still passes! It should sure as HELL tell you now, THEY DON’T REPRESENT US OR GIVE A S——— ABOUT AMERICA!!!!

Either Ross Perot starts his third party, which I think will be too late, or we yell loud enough for a revolution! Wake up and smell the coffee!

All phone calls and letters were a total waste of time. People, the real enemy in America today is the government. They have just put you and me up S——— CREEK without a paddle. You might not smell the creek yet, but it’s coming, along with the U.N. kicking in your door!

Contact me if you want the names of the TRAITORS in your state! THEY ARE WANTED FOR TREASON AGAINST THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND ITS LOYAL CITIZENS!!!

CHAPTER 25

PARABLE OF THE CHRISTMAS TREE

by Phyllis Linn 12/5/94

Things are not necessarily as they appear: there is a higher and symbolic meaning inherent in our words, acts, and customs—especially the ones we feel almost driven to partake in. Christmas is one such concept that is full of such ritualistic behaviors, none of which SEEM to have much to do with the birth of the Christ—ostensibly the focus of this holiday.

Unconsciously and symbolically, however, we are acting out the story of the birth of Christ. Our rituals are parables of higher Truth.

The Christmas tree is a perfect example. The tree itself represents “the tree of the knowledge of good and evil” in the Genesis parable of the Old Testament:

“And the Lord God commanded the man saying, ‘Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die.’ “ [Genesis 2:17]

We are here on Earth on this “day” (cycle of learning) “eating” (partaking in third dimensional activities) “of the tree of the knowledge” (resulting in learning) “of good” (God) and “evil” (ignorance, absence of God). In this state of ignorance, we are separated (“dead”) from the True God.

In other words, our sojourn on Earth is a learning experience. Our assignment is to learn to discern that which is good and that which is based on ignorance (not in our best interest; doesn’t work). Our teacher is “the Law”—the active, all-encompassing principle of thought creation: As you think, so it becomes. As you sow, so shall you reap. What goes around, comes around!

This is a mandatory course, prerequisite for higher learning! As you have heard Commander Hatonn say, “This is a prison planet.” No one leaves without a diploma.

The tree of the knowledge of good and evil—the Christmas tree—is the symbol of our Earth-bound situation. Any learning experience begins in a state of ignorance (evil). We spend many lifetimes sowing the seeds of man’s ignorance and reaping all the curses of man: disease, tyranny, chaos, and empty, superficial toys, devoid of Truth. We make a lot of mistakes (sins), but sooner or later, it dawns on us that something is wrong. Our thoughts and behavior have not succeeded in making us happy. We lack peace and understanding.

It seems to take a long time for us to realize this Law always applies to our every thought and action. A thought based upon TAKE will always result in a loss to us, somewhere, somehow. At some point we do catch on and try a new approach. “We have met the enemy and they is us”, to paraphrase Pogo.

As we turn our focus from the ego-based need to get; take; defend; negate—and begin to project thoughts of give; love; serve, we begin to reap the gifts of God, and peace and understanding are nurtured within us. This motivates us to redouble our efforts, and we make a transition, albeit gradually, from thinking as man to thinking as Christ.

Having learned our earthly lessons, as taught by Esu “Jesus” Emmanuel, we BECOME the Christ, and one with True, Pure Thought—God. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil BECOMES the Tree of Life!

These are the Truths symbolized in our traditions of Christmas. We bring the tree (“of the knowledge of good and evil”) into our houses (thoughts), realizing it needs water (thought) to stay alive. We decorate it with bright ornaments and glittering tinsel, which represent the thoughts and “gods” of man. We string lights on the tree, symbolizing our learning of how man thinks. We must partake in the gods of man first, in order to “know the difference”. The gifts we place beneath the tree represent our learning to give or love, the beginning of wisdom.

The angel or star (symbolizing Higher thought) placed at the top of the tree, tells “the point” of the story: the symbolism is that of the purity and perfection of that thought process which is CHRIST.

As a final note: learning the Truth is an individual process; each learns at his own chosen rate. Learning involves the making of free-will choices, even mistakes, and man’s learning is greatly impeded in the absence of an environment of freedom to do so.

One definition of LOVE (for Earth purposes) is “The willingness of an individual to give up certain freedoms for another person, place or thing.” Our labors on behalf of the restoration of the Constitution and freedom is just such an act of LOVE—the willingness to donate time, energy, and resources for the cause of restoring a viable learning environment for ourselves and others (and, in the process, setting an example from which others can benefit).

Those who valiantly put forth information that exposes the earthbound adversary also act in LOVE. When man makes wise use of these resources, he speeds up his own learning process—the sooner to move from the confines of this third-dimensional existence and into the higher level courses!

MERRY CHRIST-MAS AND HAPPY HOLY DAYS!

EARTHQUAKES—VOLCANOES—TIME/SPACE/FREQUENCY

by Solte 12/3/94

PROF. SOLTEC WAXES ELOQUENT (BUT DOESN'T DO FLOORS)

Toniose Soltec present, in the Light. Though it has been some time since we sat to write, it does not mean that we have not been near. We have been kept extremely busy with the monitoring in various departments. More and more tinkering is taking place on your planet—tinkering that have the potential for extremely disastrous results.

Firstly, however, we shall take a look in the Geology Department. While very little has been reported through your mainstream media, much activity has been taking place all the same.

Seismic activity is ongoing, especially all along the Ring of Fire. [See the excellent summary on the next page from the outstanding Seismo-Watch newsletter.] The areas of most intense activity continue to be: Japan, Indonesia, the Philippines and Alaska, of course. You hear very little of these events, for they are not considered important newsworthy items and make for rather boring news reporting, unless, of course, there is considerable loss of structure or life. Only then will you hear of these activities.

For instance, there are probably very few of you who are even aware that several volcanoes have been erupting of late. They are located in the Indonesian Islands, Philippine Islands and what is known as Kamchatka Peninsula [north of Japan off the east coast of Siberia].

Besides these that are currently in a state of activity, you now have Mount St. Helens building another cone at a most rapid rate, and Mt. Rainier continues to be a definite threat, yet this is being downplayed most dramatically by your scientists. They continue to claim that there is no “immediate” danger; yet, there are plans to send a detonating device down into this volcano in order that they might “blow it,” rather than allow it to erupt in its own cycle.

I would suggest very strongly that these ones leave this Giant alone and allow it to develop and erupt in its own good time. Their tampering with this volcano is very serious, dear ones, very serious, indeed. However, these scientists believe that they should take control of Nature, but what they cannot—or rather, will not admit, is that it will backfire and cause a more serious event than they can even imagine. They are becoming far too bold in their attempts to “dominate” their world and their pride shall only be the undoing of your world.

The other major event that is occurring is, believe it or not, far more serious to all inhabitants of your world and that would be that little “experiment” being conducted in the most northern reaches of your globe, known by the acronym HAARP. This little experiment is causing great disturbances in your planet’s electromagnetic grid, and has the potential of great repercussions for all of you—from weather disturbances to seismic and volcanic events of great proportions. It is also responsible for much of the interference you ones are presently experiencing in your communications devices—for example, radio, television, computers, telephones, etc.

What they have done is to construct a device based on Nikola Tesla's work in the field of Free Energy and they are attempting to tap into the Earth's naturally occurring electromagnetic field in order to generate energy in amounts not possible to generate by artificial means.

Unfortunately, what they seem to refuse to understand is that in their attempts to achieve this, they are taking great risks with your planet's future. This experiment carries the potential of causing a shift in your natural magnetic poles. This, in turn, would cause chaos and catastrophic changes in global weather patterns and could cause massive upheavals below the surface of your planet—through such things as earthquakes and volcanic activity. Your planet is already in a heightened state of seismic and volcanic activity and this tinkering around with your ionosphere could accelerate these activities even further, to a state of unbelievable disaster.

So, as you can see, we are being kept very busy, yet it was important to take the time to communicate these things to you ones.

ON THE NATURE OF TIME

Let us take a little time to discuss a different and truly more important subject—even though it may seem to be somewhat out of my field. Yet, it is important that you ones are aware of some of the more interesting things occurring with you and your world. This subject is Time.

Third dimensional (density, etc.) experience is, by far, the most difficult of all the stages of evolution which you shall need experience. That is the reason that you ones have been through so many incarnations in this level of your development. It is, to express it in the simplest of terms, the last of the “purely” physical levels through which you shall pass, with the Fourth Level being what we quite often refer to as the gateway or threshold to the higher, lighter and “less physical” dimensions. This explanation is very elementary, but it will suffice as a foundation for this writing.

You are, as many are aware, approaching transition from the third dimension to the fourth and fifth dimensions. In your third dimensional experience, you are limited by your perceptions of both space and time (which actually are but one in the same perception, just different aspects of the same thing).

Time only exists by your perception of motion (such as travel across distances, or space). This is an extremely simple explanation of Einstein's theory. You have been taught that it is not possible to exceed the speed of light, because as physical matter approaches the speed of light it would become infinitely dense and thus require an infinite amount of energy to push it any faster. But that is only a partial truth.

Many of you are beginning to have the sensation of traveling either more rapidly through time, or slower through time—many of you are certain that there are far fewer hours in one of your days than there were before. This is only true because of your perception of what time is. Actually, you see, time does not really exist. It is but something third-dimensional man has assigned to assist him in trying to achieve some kind of order in this present expression. Even motion does not truly exist. Actually, all that really exists in the physical universe is light and all else is but the experiences of the effects of light.

All time periods exist simultaneously, and as you transition farther toward the fourth- and fifth-dimensional expressions, the more you shall begin to grasp this concept. Once this fact becomes a “knowing” within you, then you will see that time is no more a boundary to you than is air through which you pass continually.

I bring up this subject simply because many upon your world are beginning to experience what they are referring to as ghostly entities and strange etheric apparitions—and, for the most part, it is most misunderstood.

Yes, there are departed souls who are confused and continue to “hang around,” yet there are other things occurring which are not of this classification. You are experiencing flickering of lights about you and strange cloud-like expressions for a moment and then they seem to just disappear. What is this all about and why are they occurring to so many in so many places?

The answer, dear ones, is that you are getting closer and closer to that time of transition and are, therefore, beginning to experience some of the higher frequencies and higher energies which exist all about you all the time.

The physical universe is literally teeming with life of all sorts and all expressions of densification of matter, and this universe is, as best I can explain it to you, multi-leveled. For while you are occupying in your perception a certain time and space at an assigned frequency of expression, there may be—and most likely are—other densifications of light or frequencies existing in that same space/time continuum.

You see, if you will recall previous lessons, all physical matter is but light vibrating at a particular frequency. There are many, many frequencies of light, some of them are to you ones visible and others are beyond your range of visibility and you call these the etheric or higher frequencies. Yet, at their vibrational rate, matter is as dense to them as your matter is to you. It is all relative.

So, as you are starting your transition, you are experiencing, from time to time, these higher frequencies and, therefore, they are, for a moment, within your visible range and you perceive them with your physical sense of sight. These occurrences will become more and more commonplace as time goes on, so know that not all of what is being experienced by you ones are what you call ghosts.

GRADUATION DAY IS NEAR

Chelas, you are nearing graduation from one grade to another, so rejoice as you experience all the chaos about you, for it is a great time of experiencing upon your planet. It is, whether you believe it or not, a wonderful opportunity that comes along very seldom. You have chosen to participate in the graduation ceremonies, otherwise you would not be here at this time in this particular place.

Make the most of the experiences and the lessons, for you are growing in great leaps, although you quite often feel that you are taking more steps backward than forward. I assure you that this is but another of your perceptions, for you are moving forward in great strides—and many are they who are out here observing the classroom.

You have about you in your world so many distractions, in just trying to survive in your world, that all too often the greater and, truthfully, more important subjects seem to be continually shoved onto the back burner. It is, therefore, part of our job to bring these things to your remembrance from time to time so that you will not forget to look at the overall and greater picture of what is.

All the daily distractions are but illusions anyway, and the heartaches and headaches need to be put into their proper perspective. We are fully aware that your jobs are difficult ones and it seems to you that you have lost your way from time to time, but know that all is playing out in precisely its own perfect way.

Remember: from light you came and to light you shall return, and all that lies in between is but of your own creation and perception. Is it real? It is as real as you desire to experience—no more and no less.

Thank you for your attention. Keep up the good work, for we are all getting there. Know that as you travel down the highway of life, sometimes it is good to take the scenic route and slow down a little and see the beauty which lies around you.

Toniose to clear.

Salu.

EARTHQUAKES WORLD EVENTS 11/10-22/1994

Editor's note: By the time you read this, you all will have heard what we just heard—about the series of earthquakes shaking Los Angeles just now, as we go to press. This is merely precursor to what's yet to occur on a major scale in LA.

CHAPTER 28

AN OPEN LETTER TO ROSS PEROT

by J. Brent Moorhead 12/4/94

Mr. H. Ross Perot
12377 Merit Drive
Suite 1700
Dallas, TX 75251

Dear Mr. Perot,

In the name of God, please read this letter. Time is growing short for us to save this nation of ours from global government and the end of our sovereignty as people and a nation. Now that NAFTA and GATT have passed, we have already lost the economic battle to the one-worlders who wish to merge us into a New World Order of third-world poverty and mental as well as physical enslavement. We-The-People need desperately for you to help establish a new Federal Constitutional Government (Agent For The Sovereign States) outside of Washington, D.C. We must leave that corrupt bunch of liars and thieves to rot on the vine when we cut off their lifeline of unconstitutional taxes and extortion.

Many have said that you represent the token opposition to the established powers who run this nation and the world. This assumption is based on the well-known, Elite-controlled-media tactic of managing what is said and written on both sides of important issues, thereby giving the illusion of an opposition—while leaving out the most germane arguments against what is corrupt, dishonest, immoral and unlawful. I hope that I am not wrong in assuming that you are sincere in your efforts to help save this country. Mr. Perot, I believe that you surely know where the true political power lies in the world and in this country. And, on a larger scale, you must know that the struggle we are facing is a battle over the souls of men and women. The anti-Christ elements are in full control at this point. But we can change that.

I know that you won forty-eight States in the last Presidential election. We both know that the computer voting in this country is rigged from the County level to the Federal and, because of that, you are not our President today. I have ample documented proof to back this up, including the names of the private corporations who have written the software to rig the voting, as well as the private corporations who supposedly count the votes. I also know who owns these corporations. This bogus voting system is independent of any public scrutiny or obligation. Unless we can get back to Constitutional Government we are on the road to total slavery and destruction. The people of this nation have no voice other than word of mouth, a few talk radio shows, and publications like this CONTACT newspaper. That is why we need you—and, in turn, you need our support. We must work together to insure that our children and grandchildren do not live in a world of tyranny and enslavement. In the 1992 Presidential election the people wanted you to be their President because they recognized the truth you spoke throughout your campaign.

I do not use these words lightly and I believe that you understand what I mean. I fully understand the ramifications of what I am saying and I realize that this endeavor will necessitate massive commitment and organization. We, the united States of America, are in serious trouble and these drastic problems require drastic solutions to resolve them. We cannot and must not continue with the traditional remedies for change because they simply don't work against this self-serving corrupt monster that we have allowed to take control of us. Just as in 1776, when our forefathers wrote the Declaration Of Independence, we must relieve ourselves of the oppression of this Federal beast ready to devour us. Your voice can be heard because of your financial and political status and the grass-roots organization that you have already set up.

The importance of establishing a new Government, to represent the various States, outside of Washington, D.C., cannot be stressed enough. We are not going to change the corruption in that fascist, socialist nest of parasites. However, if we cut off the money supply to that illegal entity, it will wither away.

I will outline some of the steps I feel need to be taken in order to accomplish a new Constitutional Government:

1) We must enlist the support of the Military and Law Enforcement by exposing them to the truth of what has happened to our country. We must show them that the power of the Constitution, which they have sworn to uphold, has been usurped by domestic enemies using unlawful Constitutional Amendments, Executive Orders and Treaties such as the United Nations' world government front. Note: There are many high ranking military and law enforcement officials who already understand what has happened to our country—but they are afraid to come forward publicly without a credible leader such as yourself to pave the way.

2) We need to establish a Capital for the new Constitutional Government.

3) We must meet with the States and show them the way in which they can regain their freedom and sovereignty under the proper Constitutional representation of our new government. We will show them the economic and political advantages of doing so.

4) When a State agrees to drop the old D.C. government and chooses the new Constitutional Government, it must also agree to immediately hold new elections by hand-counted paper ballots for all State Government positions as well as the new Representatives and Senators for the new Federal Government. In addition, these States must agree to reestablish the original 13th Amendment to the Constitution (illegally deleted during the Civil War) which prohibits any person with a Title of Nobility (such as Esquire, meaning attorneys) from retaining citizenship in this country or holding public office at any level. Further, all unconstitutional Laws and Amendments to the Constitution shall be repealed by both the State Governments and the new Federal Government.

5) Control of the currency and coin of the united States of America must be given to the new Congress. The Federal Reserve Corporations and the Internal Revenue Service Corporation must immediately be dissolved on the grounds of treason. The new Congress must arrange for Constitutional means of collecting revenue.

6) All persons on welfare or any other State or Federal entitlement program, except ones who are incapacitated and unable to work or too old to work, will lose their payment benefits after eighteen months.

Of course, Mr. Perot, these steps are only a rough outline and there are many other aspects which need to be addressed. I am asking—no, begging—for your help for this country. We-The-People want your leadership and you may be the only one, in a position of great respect, who has a chance of helping us restore our Constitution and Freedom. Tell us the truth as you really know it and expose the frauds. You must know quite a bit more than you have publicly stated. This is the only way we can win our liberty as a nation. We cannot fight with guns or we certainly would be no better than those we would fight against. Truth will stand into infinity and the lies we have been told will crumble with exposure. Our only hope now is to tell the truth to the people.

I humbly request an appointment to meet with you in your office at your earliest convenience to discuss these matters. If you disagree with me or you are not interested in meeting with me, please have one of your secretaries drop me a few words to that effect with your signature so that I may be sure that you have personally read this letter. I am only one voice, but I represent many in the voice of Freedom under God. Please, at the very least, acknowledge this petition. Thank you for your valuable time in reading this letter.

Sincerely and Respectfully,

/s/ J. Brent Moorhead

P.S To Our Readers: When writing to Mr. Perot please include Ronn Jackson's appeal for a collateral government below.

REQUEST FROM RONN JACKSON

The time is NOW! We, as a Nation, are at a cross-roads. It is decision time. You readers have asked for it, so now I am asking you to back-up your words with deeds, support, and feedback.

Current Government is at its end. Change is on the horizon and it is up to you. We must take back control of our country. The only viable alternative remaining is to start anew, using the existing magnificent document upon which our nation was founded—the Constitution of the United States. It is our only hope.

What do I mean by these statements? It is now time to form a Constitutional government apart from Washington, D. C. that is for and of the people—NOT with the present government's representatives or special interest groups.

What are your thoughts on this matter? Please write and share them. If you don't want to include your name or address, that is understandable—but, by all means, do write.

CHAPTER 29

THE NEWS DESK

by Rick Martin 12/7/94

FAIR-USE RULING

In an article from the Dec. 1 edition of Sacramento's THE DAILY RECORDER, written by James Evans, [quoting:]

Businesses, including law firms, that routinely photocopy magazine and newspaper articles for future reference, and believe they are immune from copyright infringement because of the fair-sue doctrine, may be in for a costly surprise if a recent 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision stands.

In a case that has pushed the copyright community into opposing camps, a three-judge panel in American Geophysical Union V. Texaco, Inc., 92-9341, ruled Oct. 28 in a split decision that a Texaco researcher infringed the copyright of Academic Press, Inc. when he photocopied eight separate articles from the Journal Of Catalysis.

The majority opinion was written by Chief Judge Jon. O. Newman, who was joined by Judge Ralph K. Winter. Judge Dennis G. Jacobs dissented with a 17-page critique of the majority view.

Even though the researcher, Dr. Donald H. Chickering II, made copies for his own use and merely placed most of them in his own files, the court said the photocopying was not protected by the umbrella of fair use, and Texaco should have paid for a copying license.

According to Chapter 17 of the Copyright Act, section 107, duplication of copyrighted works is allowed if it is done “for purposes including criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching (including multiple copies for classroom use), scholarship, or research.”

The law also states that four factors should be considered in determining fair use—the purpose and character of the use; the nature of the copyrighted work; the amount and substance of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole; the effect of the use upon the potential market for or value of the copyrighted work.

NO ROOM AT THE INN

In an article from the Nov. 8 edition of the LOS ANGELES TIMES, [quoting:]

There was no room at the inn for Linda Friedberg. No room at three inns, in fact, because she carried no ID showing that's her name.

The Econo Lodge, Howard Johnson and the Queen City Motor Inn in Manchester refused to rent the Chicago woman a room Sept. 7, though she had $1,000 in cash.

All three companies said they only accept ID-carrying guests for safety reasons.

Friedberg took shelter with three women who found her sobbing in a restaurant booth, took her home and let her sleep on their couch.

[On a recent trip to Las Vegas, with business checks and business cards in hand, several photo IDs, and several hundred dollars in cash, I was not allowed to rent a room for the night at one casino, with available vacancies, without a credit card. Readers, this is just the beginning of this sort of treatment.]

A NEW ELEMENT

In an article from the Nov. 19 edition of THE MODESTO BEE, [quoting:]

BERLIN—It took 10 years to make, and flickered into existence for less than a thousandth of a second. As yet nameless, element 110 supplies another clue to the world's creation.

An international team at the Heavy Ion Research Center at Darmstadt said it created the element by bombarding lead atoms with nickel atoms.

Scientists once thought uranium—No. 92—was the last of the elements. but in the past half-century, researchers equipped with nuclear theories and technology have succeeded in detecting 18 more, each heavier than the last.

What does the discovery mean to the average person? For now, an addition to the periodic table in textbooks around the world. Element 110 has an atomic weight of 269—the heaviest ever produced.

Team leader Peter Armbruster said Friday that the center—credited with the discovery of elements 107, 108 and 109 in the early 1980s—will try next week to make a heavier version that will have a longer life.

For 10 years, researchers around the world, including some at the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory in California have raced toward this discovery.

CASTRO

In an article from the Nov. 27 edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, [quoting:]

HAVANA—President Fidel Castro, addressing an enthusiastic audience of 3,000 supporters from around the world, vowed that Cuba was sticking to socialism and would not renounce its sovereignty.

In a two-hour speech late Friday interrupted by four standing ovations and frequent applause, Castro told his supporters what they wanted to hear: that Cuba will stay socialist despite whatever pressure it faces and whatever reforms it might have to make to adapt to a changed world.

“We have dignity, a sense of honor and we stick to principles. We have never negotiated a principle,” he said at the end of a week-long meeting.

“We are not going back to capitalism,” said Castro, who took power Jan. 1, 1959, after dictator Fulgencio Batista fled the country. “We don’t want to and we won’t go back.”

TANNING

In another article from THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, from the Dec. 1 edition, [quoting:]

By tricking skin cells into thinking they have been sunburned, scientists said Wednesday they have found a way to cause a true tan without exposure to damaging ultraviolet light.

Unlike so-called “sunless tanning” products, which simply stain the top of the skin, researchers at Boston University said they can stimulate production of melanin pigment and a darkening of the skin.

A key to the discovery, they said, was their observation that tanning is a direct result of the body’s efforts to repair the damage that ultraviolet (UV) light does to genes in skin cells.

UV forces segments of genes to fuse together, causing mutations that can lead to cancer. The body has an army of gene-repair enzymes ready to remove and replace the damaged segments.

In a letter to the journal Nature, the Boston scientists said the enzymes appear in response to the presence in skin cells of gene fragments called “thymidine dinucleotides”, which are common results of UV damage.

However, in addition to repairing damaged genes, the enzymes stimulate the cells to produce the pigment melanin, said Barbara Gilchrist, a dermatologist at the university and one of the researchers. Melanin darkens the skin, providing some protection against further exposure to the sun and its harmful UV.

Reasoning that an increase in thymidine dinucleotides would cause the enzymes to appear and start the tanning process, the researchers applied a solution containing the gene fragments to the skin of guinea pigs twice a day for five days. After 10 days, the animals began developing tans at the treated sites—without sun damage.

The tans endured for at least 60 days, the researchers said.

COMPUTER STANDARDS

In an article from the same edition of THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, [quoting:]

Promising to make communicating with computers even easier, International Business Machines Corp., Apple Computer, Inc., AT&T Corp. and Germany’s Siemens AG announced an alliance Wednesday to standardize the transmission of voice and data across computers and telephone lines.

The alliance, called Versit, will create a worldwide standard to make it easier to send data over telephone lines from a portable computer.

The Versit specifications will be set out this year and next for voice, video, data and networking, the companies said.

WELFARE DOWNUNDER

In an article from the Nov. 16 edition of New Zealand's CHRISTCHURCH PRESS, written by Greg Jackson, [quoting:]

Welfare should be abolished and replaced with a three-month job search allowance, says former Labour Party leader Mike Moore.

The social welfare system had failed and needed to be abolished, Mr. Moore told the Christchurch Lions Club last night.

New Zealand needed a system of social security, not social welfare.

“Quite simply, the unemployment benefit was there to assist people between jobs, not as a payment instead of a job,” he said. Unemployment benefits should instead go to employers who trained staff.

Where jobs were not available, unemployed people should be offered the option of community work or no dole.

SEX EDUCATION

In an another article from New Zealand, from the Nov. 15 edition of the CHRISTCHURCH PRESS, [quoting:]

AUCKLAND—Sex education in schools is failing, creating a new wave of younger and younger mothers, a pregnancy counselor says.

Millie Bell, a counselor with voluntary organization Pregnancy Counseling Services in Auckland, said yesterday that more and more girls, as young as 11 and 12, were getting pregnant because sex education was encouraging them to experiment with sex when they did not understand the consequences.

New Zealand trends were following those in the U.S., where the growing number of young girls who were becoming pregnant was “frighteningly out of control,” and school sex education programs had been blamed.

“We have adapted the same kind of sex education that appears in American schools and it has tragic consequences because they are not old enough to handle it,” she said. “They are being asked to take on an adult's responsibility with a child's mind.”

CARL SAGAN

In an article from the Nov. 28 edition of THE ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL, written by Ben Dobbin, [quoting:]

ITHACA, NY—If space aliens ever show up for real, don't expect them to even begin to resemble the middling monstrosities on Star Trek.

“Time for us to revise our views of repulsive!” says Carl Sagan, among the most energetic and eloquent of stargazers.

The sheer grandeur of the cosmos and the riddle about whether humankind shares some distant crossroads or voyages alone have bewitched this Russian garment worker's son since childhood.

The author of Cosmos, one of the most-watched series in the history of American public television, and The Dragons Of Eden, which won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1978, scans the future of space exploration in his 29th book, a recently published Cosmos sequel.

“Pale Blue Dot visualizes mankind 100, 200, 300 years from now and why it is in fact central for our survival that we be in space,” he said.

Not just whizzing around in spacecraft. Actually settling other worlds.

Sagan himself, who just turned 60, is still performing on the high wire.

Between lectures and symposiums and robotic missions, which he's been helping design for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since the late 1950s, he's turning his novel Contact into a Hollywood script and writing another novel, this one a “love story,” with his wife, Ann Druyan.

When he gets stuck on one project, Sagan moves on to the next, allowing his subconscious to go to work.

“When you come back, you find to your amazement, nine times out of 10, that you have solved your problem—or your unconscious mind has—without you even knowing it.”

At Cornell University's Laboratory for Planetary Studies, which he set up in 1968, space-mission data go into lab simulations to draw lessons about dust storms on Mars or the greenhouse effect of Venus.

Organic molecules, the kind that life on Earth is dependent on, “seem to be almost everywhere in the solar system beyond Mars,” suggesting that “life and intelligence ought to be in lots of places,” he said.

But extraterrestrials would “almost certainly not” bear any physical resemblance to humans.

“If you started the Earth over again, absolutely identical 4.5 billion years ago, and just let random factors operate—when a cosmic ray would hit a gene, which gene gets mutated—you might wind up with intelligence of great moral virtue, but they would not look anything like us,” he said.

While detection techniques are limited to spacecraft and radio telescopes, finding out whether mankind is alone, or not alone, “is one of the most important issues you can imagine,” Sagan said.

Trying to convince earthlings of that is not always easy.

“The trouble often is, you can’t just invent something, you have to have underlying science,” Sagan said. “It is foolish for us not to encourage at every level in the educational system better support for science education and for the encouragement of young scientists. From the most practical self-interest, if you care about anything else, our policy is foolish.”

As for UFOs, lost continents and the like, the world can ill afford such pseudoscientific twaddle, Sagan said.

“Nobody would be more interested than me if we were being visited by extraterrestrials, but I demand reasonable standards of evidence, just as I do in searching for radio signals,” he said.

“We sometimes pretend something is true not because there’s evidence for it but because we want it to be true. We confuse reality with our hopes and fears, and that is dangerous not just on the borders of science but in politics and lots of other places.”

Not least when it comes to deeply held beliefs about our origins.

“What if the universe is infinitely old?” he asked. “Then there’s no reason to posit a creator because it wasn’t created.”

Then what is meant by “God?”

“There’s a wide range of things that are called God, from the outsized, light-skinned male with the long white beard who sits on a throne in the sky and tallies the fall of every sparrow, to the kind of God of Einstein and Spinoza, which is something like the sum total of the laws of nature.

“Who could deny that there are laws of nature that apply everywhere in the universe? So, whether you say ‘Absolutely, of course, there’s a God!’ or ‘What are you talking about, there’s not a smidgen of evidence for a God’ depends in a very deep way on what kind of God you’re talking about.”

Sagan said he has encountered “surprisingly little” hostility from people who equate evolutionary research with the devil’s work to undermine religious faith.

“I think most people appreciate having a little—clarity maybe is too strong a word—but anyway, a different point of view which makes them think. Many people realize I am searching for the same thing they are,” he said.

ISRAEL’S MOSSAD

In an article from the Nov. 28 edition of THE SPOTLIGHT, written by James Harrer, [quoting:]

The Israeli Mossad spies extensively on the U.S., spreads false rumors and disinformation, stages “terrorist” incidents to discredit Islamic nations, and sends in hit squads codenamed “Kidon teams” to deal with any threat to its American operations.

That revealing account of the ministate's covert activities in this country—and around the world—comes not just from any critic, but from Victor Ostrovsky, a retired lieutenant commander of the Israeli navy, who served in the 1980s as a Mossad case officer.

Now an exile from his country and a hunted man, Ostrovsky lives in Canada where, as he told THE SPOTLIGHT, “My main occupation is to tell the truth about what I’ve seen, to warn the world that the Mossad has turned into a monster.”

That Ostrovsky's disclosures are painfully true was made apparent in 1992 when the Israeli government went to court in New York to block the publication of his first book, By Way Of Deception.

...The ham-fisted Israeli attempt to suppress Ostrovsky's work only helped make it a bestseller. Similar interest has preceded the publication of his second book, The Other Side Of Deception, last month, amid rumors that it documents what has been long suspected but never before confirmed: growing insider resistance to the Mossad's “monstrous” machinations among Israeli intelligence agents.

“Even some of this service's own operatives find its practices repulsive,” related Ostrovsky. “An intelligence agency exists primarily to provide accurate information to its government. But the Mossad lives by deception. It could not tell the truth if it tried.”

“The Mossad has poisoned the mainstream of U.S. intelligence with its deceptions, and perverted the main thrust of American strategy,” says Paul Sakwa, a retired senior CIA analyst. “British intelligence heard Ostrovsky's wake-up call: We in this country should do no less.”

In another article from the same edition of THE SPOTLIGHT, written by Warren Hough, [quoting:]

“This man should be killed” was the comment of a high Israeli government official on Victor Ostrovsky's new book. “If the Mossad can't reach him there (in Canada) then there will be a decent Jew who will do it”

The announcement of an open murder contract on the life of Ostrovsky, a former case officer of the Mossad, Israel's secret service and the author of two recent books on it, came not from just any member of his erstwhile espionage agency: it was made by Josef Lapid, the director-general of the ministate's government-owned national broadcasting system.

Lapid, who made his unprecedented public call for the assassination of Ostrovsky on Israeli TV and in the pages of Ma'ariv, the ministate's largest daily, repeated his official invitation to murder on Canadian national television last month.

“This burst of murderous rage at Ostrovsky is proof, if any was needed, that his book is a factual, important document,” commented investigative journalist George Nicholas, who has long reported on Middle Eastern affairs for this populist newspaper. “If neither the Washington bureaucracy nor Congress has the guts to address this affair in public, American voters should do so in private by getting acquainted with the work of this courageous truth-teller.”
